EIGHT OFFICERS GET PRISONERS

Traci And Perconti Brought Here In Connection With Dukes' Death

(BULLETIN 1:35 P. M.)
The Lawrence county and New Castle officers in charge of the Cleveland prisoners arrived at the New Castle police station this afternoon, with their prisoners.

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Feb. 18.—Manacled to two members of a party of eight Pennsylvania officers, Sam Traci, 33, and Paul Perconti, 30, today were removed by automobile to New Castle, Pa., where they face murder charges growing out of the fatal beating of Patrolman Robert H. Dukes February 9.

Traveling in three automobiles, the party left Cleveland at 10:30 a. m. after a brief hearing before Municipal Judge Lilian Westropp on the sufficiency of extradition papers granted late yesterday by Gov. Martin L. Davey, of Ohio.

Brief Proceedings

Cleveland, Feb. 18.—In a proceeding that lasted less than two minutes, a delegation of Pennsylvania officers today won custody of two Cleveland men wanted in New Castle, Pa., in connection with the fatal beating of Patrolman Robert H. Dukes on February 9.

The two men are Sam Traci, 33, and Paul Perconti, 30, both of Cleveland.

The pair were brought into municipal court shortly after 10 o'clock, and extradition papers issued late yesterday by Gov. Martin L. Davey were presented by the Pennsylvania officers to Judge Lilian Westropp.

She examined the papers and promptly ordered the two men turned over to Sheriff Martin O'Donnell of Cuyahoga county, who was to turn the men over to Pennsylvania officers shortly.

Since no habeas corpus proceedings had been instituted in an effort to gain release of Traci and Perconti, no identification of the men was necessary, and they were not asked to testify.

Judge Westropp examined the papers and ordered Traci and Perconti placed in custody of Sheriff Martin O'Donnell of Cuyahoga county, who turned over the men to the Pennsylvania officers.

Another Cleveland man, Algelo Pedenensi, 34, wanted in connection with the same case, waived extradition and was returned to New Castle last Saturday. He has been identified by witnesses, the Pennsyl-

Just a year ago today, a new cold wave was developing, sending the official thermometer down to 15 degrees below zero, a new low mark for last winter. It dropped lower yet on the 20th however falling to 18 degree below zero.

President Opposes Any Compromise On His Court Proposals

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—President Roosevelt notified his congressional leaders today to reject all compromises and fight for the enactment of his court reforms.

This was reported after Senators Wheelsr (D) of Montana and Bone (D) of Washington, joined in sponsoring a proposed constitutional amendment to give congress power to overturn a supreme court decision by a two-thirds vote. They offered it as a substitute for the president's plan to enlarge the supreme court in order to gain favorable decisions on New Deal legislation.

Condemned President's Plan.

Wheeler already had condemned the president's plan and Bone indicated his opposition by declaring: "I have joined in offering the amendment because I sincerely believe that our government must derive its just powers from the consent of the governed and because I want the American people to become a real part of their own gov-

Great Britain's Naval Expansion Will Likely Bring Armament Race

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Great Britain's decision to expend $7,500,000,000 on its war machine during the next five years today appeared likely to involve the United States and other major powers in a naval armaments race.

"This country is committed to the principle of having a navy 'second to none'," said Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of naval operations. "It is fair to presume that if any other naval power expands its navy considerably this government also will find it necessary to expand accordingly."

British To Increase Navy.

His expression followed announcement in London that the British navy, under the vast rearmament program, will be increased in 1937 by three 35,000 ton battleships, seven cruisers and two aircraft carriers. Britain already has laid keels for two battleships which will be matched by the United States with two 35,000 ton capital ships to cost $50,000,000 each. The keels will be laid this summer.

The country's policy of maintaining naval parity was reiterated by President Roosevelt when he authorized construction of the two ships. He said then it was hoped this na-

Chamberlain Is Lined Up As Next Prime Minister

LONDON, Feb. 18—A move by the conservative party to make Neville Chamberlain successor to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin on a "big navy" policy for restoration of the might of the British empire in world affairs was seen today behind Chamberlain's presentation of Britain's greatest peace-time armament program.

Baldwin's retirement shortly after King George's coronation in may is now generally taken for granted. That Chamberlain, tall, thin chancellor of the exchequer, is set to succeed him is likewise generally accepted.

These developments immediately aroused keenest speculations regarding Chamberlain's attitude towards former King Edward.

The prospective premier is known to hold the friendliest feelings towards the Duke of Windsor, and to have the highest respect for the Duke's strong will and determination.

Tax Millage In County To Be Reduced

Commissioners Announce One Mill Reduction Will Be Made

FORMAL ACTION ON MILLAGE MARCH 1

While the county tax levy will not be formally set until March 1, County Commissioners George H. Bolinger, Floyd L. Cotton and Joseph Hannon announced today that the levy for 1937 would be set at 9½ mills, one mill less than the 1936 levy. The levy is divided five mills for general revenue and four and a half mills for poor relief. The cut of one mill comes off the general revenue levy.

The budgetary requirements for the year will be approximately $578,482 the commissioners stated. Most of this comes from the levy on real estate but there will be other revenue such as fees, and the four mill return on securities. In 1936 the total assessable return in this account was approximately $12,000,000. This year the commissioners expect $20,000,00 although to date they have only $15,600,000 in sight. The state department of revenue has the returns however and there is no doubt that there will be heavy increase.

The budget was finally approved by the court on Wednesday and with some minor changes will stand as it is. Clerks are already figuring tax duplicates and these will go out as soon as possible.

Crop Insurance Action Is Urged Upon Congress

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18—President Roosevelt today asked congress to enact one of his campaign promises into law—the institution of a system of crop insurance which will store surpluses of agricultural products in banner years, which may be drawn upon in lean years.

And, significantly, in view of his judicial reform fight, Mr. Roosevelt concluded his brief message with this pointed observation:

"May I repeat what I have suggested in a former message: That because economic and social reforms of this character are essentially national in scope and in administration, the citizens of our nation believe that our form of government was never intended to prohibit their accomplishment."

Legislators now warring over the president's court proposals were quick to gasp this as a somewhat barbed thrust at the supreme court which, in outlawing the AAA, laid down the dictum that agriculture, like mining and manufacturing, is essentially "local" in character.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 18.—How cosmetics were used to conceal the bruises, lacerations and abrasions which virtually covered the body of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, was described to the jury today by Earle Harford, an embalmer.

"Most of the injuries were not apparent before the cosmetics were washed off," Harford, an employe of the Johnston funeral home in Uniontown, told the jury which has been asked to send State Trooper Stacey Gunderman to the electric chair for the death of Monaghan.

Harford said he was sent to the funeral establishment of Stephen and Andrew Haky to retrieve Monaghan's body at the request of his family. It had been previously testified that after Monaghan died of a cruel beating while allegedly being subjected to a "third degree," his body was dumped into an undertaker's basket and taken to the Haky establishment without the formality of notifying the victim's family.

No Agreement Near In Coal Wage Parley

Miners And Operators Are Far Apart On Many Conditions

PROPOSALS ARE MADE BY MINERS

Approximately 300,000 Miners Are Represented In Negotiations

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Operators and miners of the soft coal industry were far apart today over the question of the wages and working conditions which will be in effect after March 31.

Before the Appalachian joint wage conference, which is to negotiate a new contract between the bituminous operators and the miners, was a demand by the United Mine Workers of America for a guaranteed minimum wage of $1200 a year and reduction of working hours from thirty-five to thirty a week. The operators countered with the statement that the union proposals were "impossible," and proposed an increase in working hours to forty per week, with a reduction of 14⅔ per cent in the hourly wage rate.

Coal Cost Would Be Increased

Charles O'Neill, president of the United Eastern Coal Sales corporation, who acted as spokesman for the operators, declared that if the industry agreed to the union demands the cost of producing coal would be increased by 50 cents a ton, amounting to an additional cost of $140,000,000 annually.

The detailed proposal of the miners was put forward by Philip Murray, vice-president of the United Mine Workers of America, after John L. Lewis, union president, had emphasized negotiations.

"We have no desire except that the peaceful relations continue and we will do all in our power to extend them," Lewis said, expressing the hope that there would be no strike in the coal fields affected as a result of possible failure to come to an agreement.

All Clues Fail In Search For Missing Girl

State Police And Other Officials Are At "Dead End" In Moyer Girl Search

(International News Service)

COATESVILLE, Pa., Feb. 18.—Hope of finding Helen Moyer alive dwindled here today in spite of intensified activity by State troopers and others engaged in the week-long search for the missing 16-year-old Coatesville high school sophomore.

Investigators made guarded admissions that they knew virtually nothing about the fate of the girl who vanished on the highway near her home in nearby Modena one week ago today. Sole clews in the strange disappearance were the girl's schoolbooks, hat, shoes and fragments of an automobile headlamp found late last Thursday on the road near Modena.

Lieutenant Edwin C. Griffith, of the State police homicide division, today assumed command of the investigation and began "backtracking" over the entire case. Investigators were probing the story told by two small boys who appeared to have stumbled across a hillside spot that indicated a freshly-filled grave.

"Colossal Blunder" Says Steel Editor Of Court Proposals

"Do we want to trust our lot to the changing whims of political administrations, which would be necessary if we choose to place all responsibility on the state, or do we want to rely upon natural economic forces to provide us with the prosperity, security and happiness we desire?" asked E. L. Shaner, Cleveland, editor of the magazine Steel, of almost 100 engineers and industrial leaders of the district when he spoke Wednesday night before the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society in The Castleton.

And quickly he turned to answer it:

"We cannot afford to be too dogmatic in our replies to this question. Say what we will about the new deal, we should be honest enough to admit that it has aroused us to the necessity of considering more realistically the plight of the unfortunates in this nation. Most of us now are conscious of our social obligations. While this has been painful to some persons, in reality it has been a

Search Widens For Mother And Son

Fear Woman And Baby Have Been Killed At Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 18.—Search for missing Mrs. Louisa Adair, 24, and her 18-months-old son, James Adair, Jr., widened today as police disclosed new evidence to show that the woman and baby were killed by Charles Smart, ex-convict and coal heaver.

Searchers combed a wide area radiating from the deserted southeast Philadelphia pier near where Smart was found shot to death with a single bullet Tuesday.

Meanwhile George Spangler, police ballistic expert, established that the four shots fired from the revolver discovered beside Smart were fired in quick succession, and the coroner's physician revealed powder burns found on the slain man's forehead indicated he committed suicide.

One bullet killed Smart. Where the other three went remained a mystery although detectives believe Smart used them to kill the woman and her child after failing to rewin the love of the woman whom he allegedly once lured away from her husband.

Detectives also expressed the belief that a child's fingerprints left on Smart's automobile, found near his body, were those of Mrs. Adair's infant son.

Controversy Over Regulation Of Stock Brokers Precipitates Action

REPORT REJECTED BY COMMISSION

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—A bitter controversy over regulation of stock brokers precipitated the resignation today of Willis J. Ballinger as chief of the S. E. C. special studies section.

Ballinger collaborated with Kemper Simpson, commission economics adviser, on a lengthy report which recommended that brokers who purchase and sell securities for others, should not be allowed to engage in such transactions for themselves.

Report Rejected.

This report was rejected by the commission in favor of another which was drafted by David Saperstein, director of the trading division, and Abner Goldstone, market expert.

The Saperstein-Goldstone report, characterized by commission officials as a "scholarly treatise", concluded there was no need at this time for legislation to prohibit brokers from functioning as dealers for their own account.

Instead, it was suggested that the commission already has enough power to formulate rules and regulations to prevent abuses of trading privileges.

Difference of views contained in the two studies subsequently developed into hostility between Ballinger and commission members, including Chairman James M. Landis.

When Ballinger sought to conduct a study of proposed federal incorporation laws his efforts were blocked by the commission. This study was to have been made in connection with a congressional move to institute federal chartering of corporations.

Following this episode, the commission requested Ballinger's resignation. Ballinger said he would leave his post Feb. 28.

Although Simpson's withdrawal also was contemplated by the commission no action was taken. Simpson is now conducting a study of margin trading on securities exchanges.

ernment with as much of a check on that government as its three branches have on each other."

Their proposal would give congress power to re-enact any law by a two-thirds majority that had been held unconstitutional by the supreme court. Congress, however, would not be permitted to take action on such a law until after an intervening election. This delay was provided to give the people an opportunity to pass upon the issue involved through the election of a new congress.

White House Opposed.

An abortive move to make the Wheeler-Bone amendment a means of compromising the major battle over the president's proposals was halted by word from the White House that Mr. Roosevelt opposed any compromise . It was added the president desired a final vote in both house and senate on his own reform program.

Wheeler and Bone said their amendment would return control of the government to the people. They declared it would vest in the people themselves the final word on the constitutionality of any law and that not even the supreme court could "whittle away" that power, because no jurisdictional question could ever be raised under it for submission to the courts.

"I believe," said Bone, "that all thoughtful citizens want to preserve not only the form but the essence of our democracy while working out the challenging and even menacing problems that confront us. I see no reason why we should proceed without ascertaining in a thoroughly democratic and American way the will of the American people respecting specific issues of the gravest import."

Probe Tragedy At Golden Gate Costing Ten Lives

Body Of Only One Of Victims Has Been Recovered Today

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 18.—Four investigations were underway today to place responsibility for the Golden Gate bridge tragedy which cost 10 lives yesterday.

The body of only one of the death victims, plunged from a scaffolding, 200 feet into the swirling waters of the Golden Gate, has been recovered.

Coastguard boats patrolled the fast running strait waters but it was doubtful whether additional bodies would be found as all were believed swept to sea.

Although Timothy A. Reardon, chairman of the State Industrial Accident Commission, said no responsibility had been fixed, Frank C. MacDonald, a commissioner, flatly and unqualifiedly laid the blame for the accident with the Pacific Bridge Company which erected the scaffolding.

MacDonald's charges drew direct denials from officials of the company. Philip Hart, president, declared the scaffold was expertly designed and constructed and was at all times accessible to inspectors of both the bridge district and the accident commission.

Showalter and Police Chief Ralph A. Criswell, of New Castle, another member of the party, declared they have "sufficient evidence" against Traci and Perconti.

tions, employing 300,000 in the Appalachian fields extending from Central Pennsylvania to Tennessee, are represented in the wage conference. Any agreement reached here will apply technically only to them, but 100,000 additional miners will also be effected as wages in other bituminous mines are fixed on the Appalachian standtrd. The United Mine Workers wanted to bring the Illinois and Indiana miners into the present conference, but the operators objected because of disagreement over wage differentials.

In addition to the 30-hour week, the union also asked increase of the basic wage rate to $6 per day, a guarantee of 200-working days per year, two weeks vacaion with pay, time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays.

Expressing opposition of the operators to these demands, O'Neill argued that mining costs already are too high, that wages are 100 percent tbove the 1933 level and that in the same period working hours had been reduced from 48 to 35 weekly.

COMMONWEALTH SIDE OF SOMERSET CASE NEARS END

was called from the crowd at the Fayette county courthouse to search Miss Florence Dean, 18, Monaghan's companion that night when he slashed County Detective John C. Wall, testified she saw a man wearing a "light colored blood-stained shirt" in the courthouse. She was unable to identify him. She said it was not State Trooper Anthony Sanute, Gunderman's co-defendant, who arose in the courtroom while she scrutinized him closely.

She said she also saw County Detective Wilbert (Patsy) Minerd going upstairs with a "big brown package the size of a valise wrapped in brown paper and tied with a heavy cord" but it was not immediately shown what the package could have contained.

Caroline Lake, a waitress at the hotel operated by Monaghan, testified she removed soiled underwear in his room on a Saturday and Miss Dean was recalled to testify she placed clean underwear in the room the preceding day. Monaghan's underwear has never been found and the commonwealth contends it was used to "clean up" the blood spattered Bertillon room where Monaghan was questioned.

Shows Strain

Reflecting the strain under which he is laboring, Gunderman today showed signs of nervousness and a considerable loss of weight was readily evident to observers. He remained glum and taciturn throughout the proceedings.

Emil Kubichar, an employe of Haky Brothers, told of buying the suit of long underwear which the commonwealth charged was used to conceal the mass of bruises and cuts on Monaghan's legs.

Again Margiotti was forced to plead surprise and receive permission from Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey to cross-examine his own witness when Kubichar was unable to give a description of the underwear.

"Didn't you tell me last night you were told to get long underwear?" Margiotti thundered.

"No," Kubichar said.

John J. Duggan, Jr., chief defense counsel, leaped from his seat and demanded to know whether Margiotti had questioned Kubichar last night after the witness had testified at the afternoon session yesterday.

Talked To Attorneys

"Were you questioned by any one yesterday?" Justice Maxey asked the witness.

"Yes," he replied, pointing out Margiotti. "I talked with him for about 20 minutes."

Margiotti then asked the witness whether he had talked with Duggan and he admitted he had talked with the defense attorney for about a half hour last night.

"Well, the honors are about even," Justice Maxey observed dryly.

Walter N. Noble, another Haky employe, was recalled to the stand to tell how he went to the courthouse and got the bloody mattress on which Monaghan died and some articles of his clothing. He said he didn't know what he was going after when he started.

Joseph A. Tyger told of helping the Haky brothers carry the basket containing Monaghan's body. He also said he saw District Attorney James A. Reilly, one of the seven murder defendants, at the Fayette county courthouse that night.

John Greleski, the store clerk who sold the underwear to Kubichar, said he was not asked for any specific kind. On cross-examination he admitted he had been accustomed to doing that kind of business with the Hakys for 15 or 16 years.

Meanwhile, from his hospital bed, Coroner S. A. Baltz sped to Somerset to testify at his own request, although, under his constitutional rights he does not have to do so, as he is one of the five defendants indicted as "accessories" and might incriminate himself.

Two physicians, Dr. H. B. Ralston and Dr. Cataldo Corrado, indicted along with Dr. Baltz as accessories, have testified that he ordered Gunderman and State Trooper Anthony Sanute to burn the bloodstained bedding on which Monaghan died. It had also been testified that he issued a preliminary verdict of "death due to a heart condition superinduced by alcoholism". With no more of an examination than placing his ear to Monaghan's heart.

Dr. Baltz emerged from the U. S. Veterans hospital at Aspinwall in a wheel chair. With the help of crutches he got into an expensive automobile with his attorney, Dean Sturgis.

"I feel much better than when I entered the hospital," he told questioners, "but I'll do my talking in court."

Margiotti hoped to complete the case with todays' session.

Outlines Defense Plan At Somerset

Chief Defense Counsel Reveals Plan To Be Followed In Case

(International News Service)

SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 18.—Chief Defense Counsel John J. Duggan, Jr., revealed for the first time today the three-fold defense to be made by State Trooper Stacey Gunderman, first of 12 defendants in the alleged "third degree" death of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, to be brought to trial.

It will be contended, he said, generally that:

1. The victim was vicious in his attitude towards policemen and the law.

2. He was put under a shower to sober him up because he was unable to speak coherently, fell and was fatally injured.

3. He attacked his questioners and they were forced to strike him in self-defense.

She came here after seeing Del Campo off on a plane to Mexico City where he said he was going to attend his father's funeral.

to the station. The relationship between the two was purely a casual friendship such as exists between any persons residing under the same roof.

According to the police, the boy who carried the message from Noss to Miss Croxall at the schoolhouse this morning was Thompson Sanclio of 113 Lacock street.

Alarmed over the message, Miss Croxall went to the seventh ward station and found Noss there in a highly agitated state of mind. He informed her that he was going to commit suicide and Miss Croxall endeavored to dissuade him from the rash act.

Sought To Prevent Jump.

As the P. & L. E. train pulled in towards the station Noss prepared himself for the jump. Miss Croxall grappled with him in an effort to save his life but he threatened to drag her with him under the wheels. In a desperate jerk he tore himself loose and jumped just as the train approached. Death was almost instantaneous.

Noss had not been in his room last night and witnesses stated that he had been around the P. & L. E. yards since about 7 o'clock this morning. They stated that for about 15 minutes before the train arrived Miss Croxall and Noss walked up and down the tracks apparently engaged in an argument. This bears out Miss Croxall's statement that she endeavered to dissuade him.

Noss was born in Athens, O., April 8, 1907, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Noss, who reside on the Butler road. In addition to them he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Chester Craig of New Castle. The body was taken to the Offutt funeral home.

Funeral arrangements will be made later.

tion would not have to engage in further capital ship construction but that if other countries built them so would the United States.

Up To President and Congress.

Admiral Leahy said nothing will be decided until this government is officially notified of British intentions. Then the decision on future building will rest with the president and congress.

It is recognized here that Britain's immediate need for strengthening its defenses, in view of the European situation, is far greater than the need here, but that this does not in any manner affect the principle of the American navy retaining parity with the world's largest fleet.

Leahy said it was not clear here whether Britain's proposed new construction program was for replacement of overage vessels or new construction. If new construction, a vital point, he said:

"We would find it necessary to build ships of equal power to maintain equality."

How to Make Better Cough Remedy Than You Can Buy

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It is far better than anything you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is positively the most effective, quick-acting cough remedy that money could buy. Instantly, you feel it penetrating the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen its equal for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Bumstead's Worm Syrup

CONSERVATION GROUP HEARS FINE SPEAKER

Both intensely interesting and instructive was a talk given on "Commercialization of Flowers" by Thos. Cunningham, local florist, at the meeting of the Conservation department of the Woman's club Wednesday afternoon in Mrs. E. F. Henderson's home on Lincoln avenue.

The speaker told particularly of rose and orchid culture, and gave statistics showing that the increased demand for these flowers, as well as others, has resulted in a huge number of people being employed in the raising, developing and improvements of strains, as well as in the transportation end of the business.

He said there are actually more people in the United States engaged in the growing and selling of flowers, than are engaged in the steel industry. There also is more coal used in the greenhouses all over the country, than is used in the steel industries.

It is of further interest to note that various flowers are shipped from different parts of the United States, where the soil is best suited to them. Carnations come from Denver, roses from Chicago, English violets, New York state, among the several mentioned.

Following Mr. Cunningham's talk, Mrs. Harry W. McKee, Jr., read a splendid paper on the "Restoration of Water Fowls," telling about government projects of this nature which are being developed.

Special guests yesterday were Mrs. Harry L. Gormley, Miss Nettie Clark, and Mrs. Thompson, of Butler, the latter a house guest of Mrs. Henderson.

Tea was served from a nicely arranged table in the dining room centered with spring flowers, accented with patriotic colors in other appointments.

IMMIGRATION RESTRICTION

ALTHOUGH immigration for the fiscal year 1936, as just reported, was only a trickle compared with the annual influx before the new restrictive policy was adopted in 1930, the 41,202 newcomers represent an increase of about 3,000 over 1935.

In 1930 there were 258,348 immigrants. The number of applicants for visas who were rejected in 1936 was about 36,000.

At the beginning of the depression the immigration bars were raised by executive order for the protection of American labor. During the last two years special conditions have operated to reduce the number of those who desire or are permitted to leave certain countries.

But although immigration is at such low ebb today, there is no need for relaxing the restrictions, which are based on sound national policy as beneficial to the people of other countries as to ourselves.

RESOURCEFULNESS

Most people form certain habits of doing their work, and they keep on with their old habits, even if these ways of doing things are wasteful of time and money. It never occurs to them to think up some new way of meeting their difficulties. If anything goes wrong in their occupations or their homes, they can't think up any way to remedy that difficulty. Frequently they have to call in somebody, and have the trouble cured at considerable expense.

The old time pioneer was not so helpless. Without modern improvements, he could not telephone to some specialist and have everything fixed for him. He learned to fix things himself. People can do a lot of things for themselves if they exercise a little brain power.

DIGGING GRAVES

Dr. Ralph P. Barker, a Pennsylvania physician, figures that the average person of 50 has eaten more than 50 tone of surplus food. He feels that one of the greatest faults of our people is that they eat too much. Which reminds one of the old saying, that people dig their graves with their teeth.

Our country has produced so many good cooks, and so much good food is offered in home and restaurants, that it is no wonder that people are tempted to keep digging away. Some day they will learn greater self control. There is little satisfaction in pleasing the sense or taste, which lasts but a few minutes if it has added weaknesses to your body that shorten your life.

CONGRATULATIONS MR. HANLON

Once again a New Castle citizen has been chosen as the state head of a splendid organization, Bernard N. Hanlon having been selected as the state deputy of the Knights of Columbus. The deputyship signifies that for the national head of the organization and in his new capacity Mr. Hanlon has charge of the lodges of Pennsylvania.

It is an honor of which Mr. Hanlon is undoubtedly proud and one in which all join in offering congratulations. For more than a quarter of a century he has been active in the work of the K. of C., many of those years being spent in the service of St. Mary's Council, No. 512. For the past ten years he has been the state secretary and his continued re-election to the office is some evidence of the manner in which he has handled the work.

His elevation to the chieftainship of his order in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania not only reflects credit upon his services but is an honor to the City of New Castle.

A CROWDED PROFESSION

Dean Young B. Smith of Columbia University Law School finds it an "appalling" fact that there is one attorney in New York City for every 378 persons, including children, and one for every 763 persons over the Nation. Unless by sheer weight of numbers this startling multiplicity of lawyers makes us more law-abiding, there seems no justification for having them all.

The fact that in Manhattan Borough of New York City alone more than half the lawyers earn under $3000 annually, one-third get below $2000 and almost one-tenth of them is hard pressed to exist, further calls for serious thought.

All sorts of ills are inevitable results of such overcrowding. The relative paucity of cases permits some of them to be dragged out too long, and many other court reforms are delayed because swifter, cheaper, administration of justice is not insisted upon by the warmly competing attorneys themselves. Maintenance of the best standards of professional ethics and conduct is more difficult because of the jam. Also, the vast host milling about the foot of the legal ladder encourages the weaker ones to engage in shady practices, and a few even go into definite law-breaking.

It is an increasingly disturbing situation which the profession itself must remedy. And a glance into any classified telephone directory confirms that what is "appalling" in New York City is likewise dismaying in other communities.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Your own opinion matters most. The world's scorn doesn't hurt if you don't feel ashamed.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ATTAINING SECURITY

In order to enjoy mental health and acquire a happy personality, the child must feel himself a worthy member of the group. He must feel secure . . . Of such security the prime requisite is a wholesome father-mother relationship. Secure in relation to each other, they will hardly feel an urge for satisfying their unfulfilled unconscious wishes by bidding for the child's affections or by dominating him. Blessed is the child whose parents iron out their smallest disagreements in his absence, who strive not to lord it over him, and who don't wobble.

Carefully thought through punishments, guided only by a definite purpose not long drawn out nor attended by childish attitudes in parents, but seasoned by understanding and sympathy and a high regard for the child's personality, together with due emphasis upon deserved rewards and approvals, further child-security.

We promote security in the child through respecting and protecting his possessions, budgeting his time, training him in proper use of money; through finding ways to prevent and reduce jealousies in him, cultivating wholesome sex attitudes in him, proving truthful to him. No parent can afford to play detective toward his childen nor disregard his promises. We may reduce or prevent jealousy in a family of more than one child by observing the following rules:

Train In Independence

Train the child early in independence. Don't give him too much attention. Prepare the first or youngest child for the coming of the baby. Avoid excessive adoration of the baby in the presence of the older child. See that the older child gets adequate attention and approval. See that possessions and duties of children do not, respectively, overlap. Never discuss with one child the shortcomings of an absent child. Do not compare children nor hold one up as a model for another. Try to help all children of the family to earn about equal approval, and to distribute praise and disapproval as nearly equally as possible. Encourage the child likely to be jealous to do or say some kind thing for or about the child he tends to be jealous toward. I have a chapter on jealousy in my book, "The Modern Parent," and a still longer chapter on the subject in "The Modern Family."

CABIN IN THE HILLS

I THINK of a cabin in the high mountains. I wonder how it's taking the weight of the winter snow.

I planned that cabin, I helped to build it. In a way it's bound up with my pride and my egotism, but I've a warmer feeling for it, too. I want it to be strong, sturdy, able to carry the load of any weight that's put upon it. My own self-respect is nailed, is braced, is bolted into that little structure on the granite hills.

So I sit here and think of the great blasts of wind that drive against it. I think of the slow fall of snow, of the mountain drifts. . . . I wonder about one corner of it where I set an 8x8-inch post to hold the weight of the floor and the roof. Is it as solid as it seemed? . . . I think about that part of the roof where it joins an older cabin, where I bolted the rafters of the new to the rafters of the old. Is that holding the weight of the snow or has the snow pushed the cabins apart and smashed them?

I'm not anxious. I think the small cabin is carrying the load well enough. But I can't be sure—this is its first testing—and I may have built less strongly than I intended. But even if it does fall, it will not be the fault of the cabin. It will be MY fault, the failure of me, the builder.

So, it will be an anxious moment for me in the summer, when I go up to the mountains again, an anxious moment when I take my first look at the cabin and see what the winter has done to it.

In a little way, my feeling about the cabin is like the feeling every man has for everything he has helped to build—for his children growing into maturity, for a business he has made, for his own character. But if a man's cabin is crushed by snow, he can build it again, stronger. If his son weakens, he must stand at his side until he regains his strength. If he himself stumbles, he must do his own rebuilding.

The cabin I built is not important, but what it symbolizes is the most important thing in the world.

DEAR Miss Markel—What is the proper time for a musicale?
BETTY JANE.

Answer—Eleven o'clock is the customary morning hour or 4 in the afternoon. In the evening a musicale may begin at 8:30 except when it follows a formal dinner, then it usually begins at 10. There may be guests invited to the dinner and still others who come in afterward just to hear the music.

The hostess should stand near the door to greet her incoming guests.

Dear Miss Markel—Mother and Dad are going to give a dance in my honor at our club. Most of the boys invited have not met the girls who will attend. Could you suggest a method of starting things going so that the boys and girls (all between 16 and 18) may become acquainted and dance together. Individual introductions will not be possible, due to the number of guests. DEB.

Answer—At a private party or dance, guests who have not been introduced are permitted, with perfect propriety, to speak to one another, and a boy under such circumstances might approach any girl present and ask her to dance. But of course it is always less awkward if an introduction is first given. You might have a lucky number dance as a starter, giving each boy and girl a number, those having the same number dancing together. For instance, your father, acting as master of ceremonies, might call "No. 1" and the boy and girl having that number should come forward and dance together, followed by couple No. 2 and so on. After the entire group has danced for a short time, a number (picked at random) should be called, the bearers of which must leave the floor. This should be repeated until only one couple, the winners, is left. This will help to "break the ice."

Court Under Fire Before.
Antagonistic To Jefferson.
Was Changed Several Times.

By MARIKA HELLSTROM
(Guest Columnist for Leslie Eichel)

THE CONTROVERSY now raging in regard to the U. S. supreme court is not so unusual as it might seem. The supreme court has been under fire many times previously, especially in its younger days, when it was growing to full stature, so to speak. The man who aided most in this growing was John Marshall, called the father of American law. For more than a quarter-of-a-century—from 1801 to 1835—he guided the destiny of the supreme court. It can truly be said that if it had not been for John Marshall, the supreme court might still occupy a back seat in American life.

The framers of the constitution were sure of what they desired—a separation of powers into executive, legislative and judicial. Thus they would avoid the dreaded ideas of "monarchy" which still were strong following the Revolution. But in this unique system of "checks and balances", the supreme court at first did not have a distinct or powerful role. It was to take care of "all cases arising under this constitution", any trouble concerning treaties, ambassadors and other public ministers, or controversies between the states or between a state and a citizen. The constitution said nothing in regard to the supreme court deciding whether an act of congress was constitutional or not. This phase of the court's work, which later became so important, was the work mainly of John Marshall.

ENEMY OF JEFFERSON

As the sworn enemy of President Thomas Jefferson, leader of the new party which called itself Republican, John Marshall got his first taste of power and revenge when he declared an act of congress unconstitutional in 1803. The act involved one of the "Midnight Judges" of a lower court. These judges got their name because they were given office during the last few hours before Jefferson was sworn in as president, in an effort to pack the courts with members of the opposition party, headed by Alexander Hamilton, Marshall and others. In 1810 Marshall for the first time declared the act of a state legislature, Georgia, unconstitutional. Both times that this occurred a storm of protest arose against the supreme court. In the decisions Marshall went into long and involved reasons why the supreme court took this right. And who was there that could judge the supreme court? It seemed that when the famous American system of "checks and balances" worked itself out, the supreme court, and not congress or the president, really came out on top.

MANY BATTLES

But the supreme court was to go through many more battles. In the famous case of McCulloch versus Maryland, Marshall declared that a state had no right to tax banks. This was done to protect the new and growing Bank of the United States, which was establishing branches in all the states. Immediately Ohio defied the court's ruling and levied taxes on banks just the same. Kentucky soon followed. This brought up the question of centralized government versus states' rights, a great controversy which began with the first union of the 13 states, and has not been solved yet.

Popular meetings were held, mainly in the frontier states, which felt the check of the supreme court most keenly, to protest that they wanted to rule themselves. In 1825 a meeting in Kentucky demanded "that congress ought to reorganize the supreme court as to preserve the sovereignty of the state over its own soil, and the right of people to rule themselves."

SETTING ASIDE LAWS

Between 1809 and 1824, 14 acts of 11 states were set aside by the supreme court, with John Marshall as chief justice. For New Deal legislation the score is: In favor of the New Deal, four decisions; against the New Deal, 10 decisions. Obviously President Roosevelt feels that the odds are against him and his New Deal. The powers that John Marshall helped the supreme court to attain once more are up for questioning.

JEFFERSON'S VIEW

When President Jefferson heard of Chief Justice Marshall's epoch-making decision in 1803 that the supreme court had the power to declare an act of congress null and void, he exclaimed:

"Then indeed is our constitution a complete felo de se (legally a suicide). For, intending to establish three departments, co-ordinate and independent, that they might check and balance one another, it has given, according to this opinion, to one of them alone the right to prescribe rules for the government of others, and to that one, too, which

COMMON KNOWLEDGE

Lawyers have a sad reputation. They for the most part are to blame for this. They wink at the shyster who employs ambulance chasers and professional witnesses, when the sooner such lawyers are disbarred, the better.

Once in a while, though, it is to laugh:

Amos was a chronic thief, who usually managed to keep within the petty larceny limit. One time he miscalculated, however, and was sent to trial on a charge of grand larceny.

"Have you a lawyer?" asked the court.

"No, sah."

"Well, to be perfectly fair, I'll appoint a couple. Mr. Moore and Mr. Neal will act as counsel."

"What's dat?"

"Act as your lawyers. You are to consult with them and prepare to tell me whether you are guilty or not guilty."

"Yas, sah."

Amos talked to his attorneys for a few moments in husky whispers. The judge caught only the word alibi, several times repeated. Then Amos arose, scratched his head, and addressed the court:

"Jedge, yoh honah, Ah suttinly would like toh trade one ob dese lawyers foh a witness."

MEMORY OF BOYHOOD

"Heat me these irons hot, and there
Beyond the arras, watchful, stand,
And when I strike my foot, beware!
Rush forth and bind him foot and hand!"
Strange, that so long has memory kept
Those cruel lines o'er which I wept.

Beside an English fire we sat;
Since then has half a century gone,
I from my mother hearing that
Grim scene from Shakespeare's play, King John,
Weeping with Arthur as he cries:
"Cut out my tongue! But spare mine eyes."

Thus runs the play. Beside her knee
So deep the drama charged my mind
That still the lines come back to me.
And still I hear my mother say:
"Don't cry! I'll put the book away!"

Sometimes e'en now I wake at night
To think her reading as of old
Beside that English fire, the bright
Red blazing embers ages cold.
And as I sob I hear her say:
"There! There! I'll put the book away."

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Cannot Go To Country Here

English Method Of Sounding Out Public Opinion Would Not Work In United States

WILSON TRIED SYSTEM HERE

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—When President Roosevelt says he will, if necessary, "go to the country" on the supreme court issue he uses an English expression which does not altogether fit in the United States.

Americans, speaking of the "government," mean the whole thing, executive, legislative and miscellaneous, civil and military.

An Englishman, refe..ing to HIS government, means what Americans call the "administration."

HOW ENGLISH DO IT

An English election having been held, the king (or queen) names a national prime minister.

It is not an appointment, for the monarch has no choice in the matter.

The prime minister must be the leader of the majority party, as indicated by that last election. If any but its recognized leader is nominated, he will not be able to form a cabinet; the selection MUST be the leader.

The prime minister corresponds to the American president. He and his cabinet constitute the government.

"GOING TO THE COUNTRY"

This arrangement continues as long as the government can command a parliamentary majority—a majority in congress, as Americans would say.

But then, one day, there arises a situation in which some important government plan (like supreme court rejuvenation) is outvoted by the legislators. In that case the prime minister says, "Since the government cannot have its way, it hereby resigns," and does so. That is what is known as "going to the country."

Thereupon a national election follows.

Supposing that the government wins, popularly, it comes back into office and gets what it was demanding. Supposing that it loses, a government of the other party's complexion succeeds it.

There must be an election every seven years anyway, but there may be several "goings to the country" between times.

NOT SO FLEXIBLE IN U. S.

In the United States there is no such system, providing for a test whenever a controversy arises.

President Roosevelt "went to the country" in 1936 and won overwhelmingly. But that corresponded to one of England's regularly spaced elections at seven-year intervals. An English government (or administration) would "go to the country" right now, regardless of 1936 or 1940, on the supreme court issue.

The United States has not the requisite machinery—or "responsive government."

WILSON'S PREDICAMENT

President Wilson, an ardent believer in the English system of "responsive government," imported the expression "going to the country into the United States.

But he could not force a popular vote as to war settlement and the League of Nations.

What the popular verdict might have been is problematic. He never heard it.

Undoubtedly his notion was that he would have been indorsed if he could have been listened to by the electorate, but congress was against him.

He could not have a vote, but, by making speeches, here, there and everywhere, perhaps he could have stirred up a popular sentiment sufficient to overawe the legislators.

His difficulty was that he could not make such an appeal.

One of the functions of the city health officer is to examine the water in all pools used for bathing. A report showed that an average of 12 examinations are made each month. Relative to examination of persons who handle beverages and foodstuffs waiters and waitresses may go to their own physician, who submits certificates showing the health of the person examined to the city health officer.

Four former members of the police department are now on pension, three having been retired in the first week of January, and the fourth later. He was injured while on duty in December and was paid his full salary until he recovered which was recently. Each of the men retired in December draw their pension allotment monthly. It amounts to half of the monthly wage of a patrolman or $66.83. Because the pension fund was established recently and these men had not contributed for a long period as men now in service must do, they must return five per cent of their monthly wage to the fund each month.

City treasury attaches report 1937 tax collections are good. City tax statements for wards two, three and four have not yet been delivered. Statements showing 1937 school tax statements will be delivered in April. For both statements the treasurer for both city and school had to use about 50,000 cards . . . Paid firemen handle their own pension affairs . . . It would be nice for tennis players if courts were re-established in Laurel avenue and on George Washington school grounds.

U.S. Senator Gerald P. Nye says:

"I enjoy the comfort a light smoke gives my throat"

"I have smoked Luckies off and on ever since my first term in the Senate 11 years ago, and I have always enjoyed their taste and the feeling of comfort and safety a light smoke gives my throat. I have done a great deal of public speaking, on the floor of the Senate, over the radio and at conferences. Necessarily this results in a strain on the voice. So naturally, in smoking, I have to think of my throat—and I have found that a light smoke is suitable to my throat."

Gerald P. Nye

HON. GERALD P. NYE
U. S. SENATOR FROM NORTH DAKOTA

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Senator Nye's statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

Mayne, of Beaver. When the fireman of the locomotive, Llyod Hess, of Pittsburgh, saw the engineer slump in his seat he slowed the train to a stop, switched it into a siding and a few minutes later flagged an eastbound passenger train and helped lift Mayne into the baggage car. The sick man was rushed to the hospital. Later, the Beaver Falls News-Tribune relates, Hess, single-handed took the train to McKees Rocks, the eastern end of the run.

Why Laxatives Fail In Stubborn Constipation

Twelve to 24 hours is too long to wait when relief from clogged bowels and constipation is needed, for then enormous quantities of bacteria accumulate, causing GAS, indigestion and many restless, sleepless nights.

If you want REAL, QUICK RELIEF, take a liquid compound such as Adlerika. Adlerika contains SEVEN cathartic and carminative ingredients that act on the stomach and BOTH bowels. Most "overnight" laxatives contain one ingredient that acts on the lower bowel only.

Adlerika's DOUBLE ACTION gives your system a thorough cleaning, bringing out old poisonous waste matter that may have caused GAS pains, sour stomach, headaches and sleepless nights for months.

Adlerika relieves stomach GAS at once and usually removes bowel congestion in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight results. This famous treatment has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 35 years. Take Adlerika one-half hour before breakfast or one hour before bedtime and in a short while you will feel marvelously refreshed.

New Telephone Device Mirrors Sound Of Voice Spoken Into Telephone

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—Lift the receiver, dial your own number and —presto! you have a delightful chat with yourself.

That is the latest telephone device, a "voice mirror," perfected in the Bell Research laboratories in New York. It is now on exhibition in the Bell Telephone building here.

No one ever knows how his voice sounds to others, according to R. T. Griffith, Bell Telephone engineer. He said:

"When we listen to our own voices, we hear sound transmitted to our ears through the bony structure of our own head as well as through the air."

The "voice mirror" eradicates this handicap. With this remarkable device a person speaks into the mouthpiece which directs the words to a steel tape passing close to electro-magnets. The sound waves, instead of being transmitted on through by the electrical current, are caught by the magnets and recorded on the passing tape and from thence to the ear of the one speaking.

The men were arrested by state game officials, and their guns were confiscated until they obtained hunting licenses. Here's Simple Way to Ease a Cold

Two Quick-Acting, Quick-Dissolving Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a Glass of Water

The modern way to ease a cold is this: Two Bayer Aspirin tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three BAYER tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will act to combat fever and the pains which usually accompany colds. The gargle will act as a medicinal gargle to provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain. It is really marvelous; for it acts like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

Try this way. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. For it is a quick, effective means of combating a cold. Ask for Bayer Aspirin by the full name at your druggist's — not for "aspirin" alone.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LOCAL DRIVERS TO BE GUESTS

Interurban bus operators of Penn-Ohio Coach Lines Company will gather at the Youngstown club, Youngstown, tonight to celebrate safety records made in 1936. The occasion will be the annual safety banquet, given in honor of the operators who went through either the first or the second half of the year without a transportation accident charged against their records.

is unelected by and independent of the nation. . . . The constitution, on this hypothesis, is a mere thing of wax in the hands of the judiciary which they may twist and shape into any form they please. It should be remembered, as an axiom of eternal truth in politics, that whatever power in any government is independent, is absolute also. . . . A judiciary independent of a king or executive alone is a good thing; but independent of the will of the nation is a solecism, at least in a republican government."

MODERN VIEW

The present chief justice, Charles E. Hughes, believes in upholding the powers of the supreme court. He once expressed this view: "The court is the final interpreter of the acts of congress . . . a statute finally means what the courts say it means."

NUMBER OF JUSTICES

The number of justices on the court is by no means limited by the constitution. The original number when the court was established in 1789, was six; this was reduced to five in 1801, increased to six in 1802, to seven in 1807, to nine in 1837, to 10 in 1863, by President Lincoln, who never was awed by the supreme court, reduced to seven in 1866, and finally increased to nine under President Grant.

Congress has the say as to the number of justices, but in each instance a president has forced the changes. Grant's maneuver was purely political. He desired to obtain a favorable decision on a legal tender act.

Workers in France report that the forty-hour week, legislated in June, has been applied in only a few government enterprises, such as the arsenals, government construction shops, airplane factories, railways and coal mines.

It's True—Thomas A. Edison said, in 1927: "I don't think the talking picture will ever be successful in the United States. Americans prefer the silent drama. They will never get enthusiastic to any voices being mingled in. There will be novelty to it for a while but the glitter will soon wear off."

John Erskine once was quoted as saying, "I see no future for opera and I don't think it even has a present." Mr. Erskine is now head of the Juillard Foundation, largest contributor to the upkeep of the Metropolitan Opera.

The steamboat, the submarine, the telegraph were all offered to Napoleon by inventors before the world generally heard of them. He didn't think they would work!

B. F. Keith, when he controlled the largest chain of vaudeville theaters in the world, said: "Motion pictures are like a fad; they're like the bicycle. They won't stay long."

Woodrow Wilson, when President of Princeton University in 1906, wrote: "Nothing has spread socialistic feeling in this country more than the automobile; to the country man (that is, the farmer) they are a picture of arrogance of wealth, with all its independence and carelessness." He thought only the rich could ever possess an automobile.

Charles Urban developed a process for color movies and attempted to sell it to motioin picture producers in 1912. Exhibitors they consulted thought its appeal would be shortlived, and the producers turned it down.

Just before the premiere of "Mlle. Modiste," Fritzi Scheff, supported by the producer, tried to argue Victor Herbert, the composer, into eliminating one of the songs in the show. They declared it was lacking in appeal and would slow up the musical comedy. He insisted that it be kept in, for the first night, at least. The song made the show a hit, and Fritzi Scheff the greatest musical comedy actress of the day, for it was "Kiss Me Again."

The first instructor to whom the parents of the boy Ignace Paderewski took him, said, "You will never learn to be a pianist!"

William de Mille, then the outstanding playwright of the day tried to persuade Mary Pickford from leaving the stage to go into a crockpot, business—motion pictures!

Deciding to die together, a young couple went to the river at Aumenau Germany, and jumped into the river. But the water was too cold, and as soon as they got wet they did not want to leave this earth. They helped each other get to the bank. The girl was so exhausted that she had to be taken to a doctor. The youth escaped with a cold in his head.

Errol Flynn To Hunt Redfern

Movie Star Plans Vacation Trip To Brazil In Near Future

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 18.—Errol Flynn, movie star, disclosed today that his projected vacation trip to Brazil would include organization of an expedition to search for Paul Redfern, American aviator still believed by many to be alive somewhere in the dense jungles along Brazil's northern border.

Redfern vanished in 1927 during a flight from Atlanta, Ga., to Rio de Janeiro. Since then, explorers emerging from the region in which Redfern's plane was last seen frequently have reported hearing rumors the American flyer was being held captive by interior tribes.

Flynn will leave Hollywood next week on a long vacation. He will sail immediately for London, visit his family in Belfast, Ireland, and sail for Brazil from Liverpool about May 1.

"Savages are alike the world over," Flynn said. "From my experiences in the South Seas I can readily believe that after Redfern's ship crashed he was rescued by natives, who, seeing him descend from the sky, believed him to be some sort of god.

"Either he was crippled and could not escape, or the natives will not permit him to go."

The man who holds four aces rarely is disturbed by criticism from a pair of deuces.

Your Income Tax In A Nutshell

DEDUCTION FOR TAXES

Taxes on real estate and personal property paid during the year 1936 are deductible. So-called taxes, which are assessed against local benefits, such as streets, sidewalks, drainage, and other like improvements, are not deductible, for they tend to increase the value of the property and thus constitute cost of a permanent improvement. The Federal income tax may not be deducted. The tax on unjust enrichment—a Federal tax on income—is not deductible. Income tax, however, paid to the State by an individual on his income is an allowable deduction on his Federal income-tax return.

Customs duties paid by a person on articles imported for his own use are deductible. Federal taxes on admissions in excess of 40 cents are deductible, but the taxpayer must show that account has been kept of the amount paid. Taxes on club dues are deductible by the member paying them. An individual may deduct the tax on his telephone conversations, radio messages, telegrams, and cables, and on the rent of his safe deposit box.

License fees exacted by a State or city upon certain businesses are deductible as taxes. Automobile license fees are ordinarily taxes and deductible. Postage is not a tax and is not deductible. In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed.

Federal estate and gift taxes and State inheritance, estate, lagacy, or succession taxes are not deductible on Federal income-tax returns. The Federal taxes on automobiles, gasoline, and liquors are imposed upon the manufacturer, producer, or importer, and are not deductible by the purchaser or consumer. Whether or not the gasoline tax or the sales tax levied by a State may be deducted by the individual purchaser depends upon the terms of the State law imposing the tax, consequently the right to the deduction, as between purchaser and seller, varies in the different States.

Under the Revenue Act of 1936 the amount of excess-profits tax paid or accrued under the Revenue Act of 1935 (as amended) is deductible in computing net income of a corporation for the purpose of both the normal tax and the surtax on undistributed profits.

Fat Girls Get The Go-By—Slim Girls Win Men

Lose Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

Here's a way to get rid of ugly fat that works hand in hand with Nature. Millions of people are losing millions of pounds of flabby flesh and getting back slender figures, without the need of starvation diets or back-breaking exercises.

Medical science has discovered that one of the causes of too much fat lies in a little gland. It is the duty of this tiny gland to make about one drop and a half every day of a vital fluid. This helps the body "burn" up food and excess fatty tissues just as a good draft of air helps the furnace to burn up coal without forming "clinkers". If this little gland doesn't make this drop and a half of fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat.

Doctors correct this condition by feeding this little gland the substance it lacks—and Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on this same method. Millions are using them with success. They are prepared by a world-famous medical laboratory. Their formula is published in every package so you know what you are taking.

So don't waste time and money with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Go to your druggist today and get a box of Marmola. Try this simple, easy way to get rid of excess fat.

Passengers And Crew Uninjured In Plane Crackup

Big Transport Plane Crashes Into Embankment At Atlanta Airport

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 18.—Five passengers and a crew of three escaped injury early today when an Eastern Airlines plane, en route from Chicago to Miami, plunged into an embankment in landing at Candler field here.

The passengers continued their trip to Miami a short time later in a relief ship.

Misses Barracks

The accident occurred when the huge Douglas airliner attempted to land on the north-south runway at the field. For some reason, not yet explained, the pilot was unable to bring the ship to a halt as quickly as usual, and the rolling plane headed straight for some barracks at one end of the runway.

In an effort to miss the barracks, the pilot swerved the plane to the left, and it plowed into the embankment.

Both wings, the tail, the undercarriage and the propellers were badly damaged.

Members of the crew aboard the ship were listed as E. E. Ballough, captain of the ship; Curtiss Fitts, pilot, and Brian Merrill, flight steward.

All the passengers boarded the plane in Chicago and were bound for Miami.

Woman Lobbyist Is Questioned By House Committee

Miss Jeannette Rankin, Former Congress Member Is Summoned To Hearing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, only woman member of congress when the United States entered the World war, was sharply questioned because of her lobbying activities when the House Foreign Affairs committee began open hearings today on the administration's neutrality bill.

Chairman McReynolds (D) of Tennessee, who introduced the bill in the House, told Miss Rankin that it "looks as if you've been trying to block the committee instead of cooperating with it."

Miss Rankin frankly admitted that she is a paid lobbyist for the national council for prevention of war. She admitted that she aided in arranging a meeting of congressmen in the office of Rep. Maverick (D) of Texas.

"COLLOSAL BLUNDER" SAYS STEEL EDITOR OF COURT PROPOSALS

blessing in disguise. It has stimulated the habit of retrospection and self-analysis, which always is a constructive pastime.

Differ Chiefly on Method

"The chief distinction between New Dealers and most engineers and industrialists is that they differ in opinion on method. All of us agree that the objective of a more "abundant life" or "more goods for more people", or a more equitable distribution of wealth is much to be desired. New Dealers will say with emphasis that the prosperity, security and happiness that we seek is the essence of their political objective. With equally strong endorsement, we who are engineers or industrialists will agree that that is the primary aim of our economic doctrines. The conflict in opinion arises only when we ask, "How are we to realize this ideal of prosperity, security and happiness?"

"The answer depends largely upon the willingness of the various agencies in our economic and political system to accept their obvious responsibilities of initiative and action. If engineers and industrials renege on their obligations to society, then it is a foregone conclusion that politicians are going to step into the breach and to capitalize the opportunity to further their own selfish interests.

"Incidentally, that is the strongest argument yet advanced by the New Dealers. They claim, with some justification, that industry has been remiss in its duty to the underprivileged classes. They insist that social progress shall be speeded up to an unprecedented tempo. They are gluttons for speedy action.

"But there is danger in the time element. Reforms cannot be forced in advance of public acceptance.

Education Root of Progress

"The point I am trying to make is that reform, just for the sake of reform, is futile. We cannot progress in advance of the intelligence of our unfortunates. Education, rather than paternalistic ideals, is the root of social progress.

"New Dealers have made a big fuss over industry's failure to accept full responsibility for its relations with labor. They have set up expensive machinery for insuring employes the right of collective bargaining and for settling labor disputes. But please note that the most recent General Motors strike was settled—not by any assistance from the New Deal's billion dollar labor relations machinery—but by the simple methods of negotiation which had been in vogue for decades before the New Deal was born. Here again is a striking demonstration that reform for reform's sake alone is not only futile, but wasteful."

"But assuming that all the economic agencies of the nation were to be fully conscious of their social obligations," continued Mr. Shaner, " . . . that would be a highly desirable situation but it would not bring about the desired results unless the efforts of those economic agencies could be synchronized with the policies and activities of our federal government."

Crux Of National Problems

Here, said Mr. Shaner, we come to the crux of our national problems.

"Do we desire that our hope for prosperity, security and happiness shall rest in the hands of those who rule the federal government or do we want to retain our present system, wherein private enterprise shares heavy burden of responsibility for the public welfare?

"This is an important question. It involves the decision as to whether we want the state to dominate the people or whether we prefer to have the state represent and be responsible to the people.

"Perhaps we do not realize the extent to which important prerogatives of the people and of their representatives in congress are being quietly shifted to the control of the executive branch of our federal government.

"Since March 4, 1933, many persons have had frequent occasion to question the wisdom of many of the actions and policies of the administration. Some critics were competent, others incompetent.

Here Mr. Shaner hurried to President Roosevelt's proposal to increase the supreme court, and asked, "Why destroy the valuable system of checks and balances provided by the executive, legislative and judiciary?"

Must Spike 'Blunder'

"Our job, everybody's job is to spike this colossal blunder," he told the audience.

Earlier, after declaring that New Dealers in Washington have been able, by the clever expedient of branding certain critics "economic royalists" and "princes of privilege," to discount and ridicule all critics so effectively that the words of hundreds of competent, able and patriotic men no longer carry weight with a large portion of the American public, he had said:

"Having stifled criticism from certain quarters and put the legislative branch in chains, the executive now proposes to take over the judiciary—lock, stock and barrel. He hopes to accomplish this by inducing the subservient congress to authorize him to "pack" the federal courts. If he succeeds in this bold venture, then he will be complete master of the situation.

"From this point it should be comparatively easy to fill in the details essential to absolute dictatorship.

"True, our present system is not perfect. It is admittedly deficient in the uneven distribution of its benefits. Nevertheless it functions even in that respect far better than any system in operation in any major nation.

"Fortunately the decision as to how we shall pursue prosperity, security and happiness still rests in the hands of the public. Our duty, as engineers, as citizens, as employers or as employes, is to help mould public opinion so that it will rise in protest against changing our system too radically or too precipitately.

Mr. Shaner, introduced by W. J. Ramsey, executive of the Matthews Conveyor company, Ellwood City, was accompanied from Cleveland by E. C. Kreutzberg, development manager for steel. Donald Jones, of Ellwood City, president of the society, presided.

The group took dinner in the main dining room of the hotel.

Oppose Plan To Reduce All CCC Camps In Future

Open Revolt Occurs In House Over Plan For CCC Reduction On Permanent Basis

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Revolt brewed in the Democratic house steering committee today over the administration's plan for reduction of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) when it is placed on a permanent basis.

The committee, nominally regarded as an arm of the party organization in the house, may lead a fight to halt the proposed economy program.

The administration's plan to close 84 CCC camps about April 1 and to eliminate 600 camps in the new permanent set-up, with a reduction in the permanent authorized enrollment from 350,000 to 300,000, has encountered widespread opposition.

Opposed To Plan

"We will have a meeting of the steering committee to discuss this and other questions," said Rep. Jed Johnson (D) of Oklahoma, chairman of the committee. "I am opposed, and I think a majority of the steering committee is opposed, to the plan to reduce the number of camps. The revolt against a reduction last session originated in the steering committee and ended in a compromise.

"There are more than 2,000 camps in operation with an enrollment of about 150 to 170 for each camp. They propose to eliminate 600 camps and to increase the enrollment in each camp.

"We would not only have them keep the present camps until jobs are finished, but we want them to complete jobs in cases where camps were abandoned with jobs half finished. Down in my territory a camp was completely abandoned with work but half completed.

"The president will send a message to congress in the spring recommending that the CCC be made permanent after June 30, when it otherwise would expire."

Young Slayer Is Placed In Colony For Epileptics

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—Henry Oberhelman, 16, charged with killing Steve Kotula, 10, his chum, with a stolen gun, today was committed to the Selinsgrove state colony for epileptics by Judge Joseph A. Richardson. A sanity commission informed the judge they found the youth feeble-minded and an epileptic. Oberhelman while in police custody gave a half dozen different versions of the slaying which he said occurred during a game of 'cowboys and Indians".

NEUTRALITY TO BE CONSIDERED

entirely satisfied with the bill as it now stands. They include Senators Borah (D) Idaho, and Johnson (R) California, who object principally to sections to empower the president to place embargoes on ordinary commerce to belligerents in addition to arms, ammunitions and implements of war.

Borah and Johnson contend this provision constitutes a surrender of America's right to the freedom of the seas, and that it would place unjust commerce restrictions. They have served notice they will carry their fight to the senate if defeated in committee.

Borah also opposes the cash-and-carry provisions of the Pittman measure "because it will not keep us out of war and it will enable us to make money out of war, just the same as though the goods were carried in our own ships."

This section provides that goods not embargoed may be shipped in American or foreign "bottoms" providing the shipper transfers title to the cargo to the belligerent purchaser. In addition, there is a provision which would empower the president to take American merchant vessels off the seas if the neutrality of the United States is threatened by such commerce.

The city will not pay more than $750.00 and an allowance on a present piece of police equipment for the patrol, Mayor Charles E. McGrath explained.

PURCHASE SEED FOR COMING TREE CROPS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—Secretary Jaames F. Bogardus, of the Department of Forests and Waters, announced today that seeds for the 1939 and 1940 tree crops, which will be raised in state nurseries and later planted on Pennsylvania's denuded areas, are being purchased in Europe, Asia and the United States.

Although there has been a shortage in the local collection of seeds this year, particularly of red pine, and white pine, the state department will supplement its planting of these crops with seeds of the same specimen from the Lake States. The Lake States will also supply Pennsylvania with white spruce and Banks pine seeds.

Savoy Stamping Popular Sport

Many White People Patronize Hot Dance Club In Harlem District While In New York

DOPE PEDDLERS CHANGE METHODS

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Europeans in the metropolis to see the sights invariably ask to see the Savoy dance hall in deep Harlem. And, of course, "Stamping at the Savoy" has become a part of the routine of every radio swing program. The Savoy is a black and white resort with a patina of respectability.

O. O. McIntyre, as "dictys"—high tone folks—let themselves go in squirms, strangle holds and public necking.

No hard liquor is served and it has never had a cutting scrape. It is an outlet for the negroid frenzy for barbaric dancing. Porters, maids, cooks, elevator boys as well as "dictys"—high tone folks—let themselves go in squirms, strangle holds and public necking.

There are some venturesome whites who indulge the epileptic seizures of the Lindy Hop, the favorite dance, with the dusky hostesses, but mostly the dancers are colored, eye-rolling black bucks and sepia girls. The hall occupies a full block front on Lenox at 142d street.

Modern in lighting and decor, the music is hot and continuous. It clientele attains a half million total yearly and the gross is $275,000. The owners are white and the place has had uninterrupted success since 1926. Although other night life in Harlem is in partial eclipse.

Mrs. Winfield Sheenhan, the former Maria Jeritza of opera fame, has touched off an Austrian schloss vogue in the neighborhood of her husband's estate in Hidden Valley, near Los Angeles. Mrs. Sheehan acted as her own architect and contractor, appearing on the lot daily to superintend construction.

Two new and goofy night club clowns are keeping the cafe stayouts up a bit longer. They are Jack White and Henry Youngman, cavorting in two of the less pretentious pudding houses. White's flurry of nuttiness is like this. Mrs. Jock Whitney, Helen Wills and a social handsome enter. White glances at them and observes: "I'll make it a foursome after the show." Youngman also cracks wise about the seat holders. Seeing Jimmy Durante and Ray Bolger at a table he observes: "There they are talking—beak to beak." Inane in type but amusing in extemporaneous blurts."

For many years the biggest of the uptown dope depots was in Columbus Circle after midnight. Here the overlords met their peddlers and distributed their supplies. But Narcotic Squad vigilance finally broke that up. I am told distribution is now in the public parks, notably Central. A distributor sauntering down in lonely path tosses a packet in some bush or gully. He waits until he hears a pre-arranged whistle and knows the packet has been retrieved.

And whistling is remindful it has become a vanquished art along New York streets. A psychologist declares it's an evanishment due to depression and one not as yet recaptured. It used to be residential streets were lively in the early morning with the shrill of whistlers and there were clarion chirrupings among arrivals to open shops, sweep the sidewalks, wash the windows and polish the signs. The push boys who raced their go-devil carts through the garment district were celebrated for whistling. So much so they inspired poetical effusions among Ghetto bards. But a ride through the district shows the whistlers stilled there, too.

At last Madison avenue is to have a perfume shop in black and silver that will handle scents for men only. There are now more than 100 varieties of aromas designed to appeal only to the masculine smell. Jack Dempsey and even Jimmy Durante like a dish of perfume on their kerchiefs.

Thingumbobs: Elsie DeWolf spends three hours dressing for a dinner party . . . The Bowery has a Royal Highness lunch room . . . John D. Rockefeller is a white bean soupist . . . The Martin Johnsons after one more jungle trek planned to settle down in a small town in Kansas . . . Bob Davis can bake a chocolate cake that will knock your palate for a loop . . . Anthony Eden has never been in a night club or seen a musical revue . . . Ernest Simpson has become one of London's hermits . . . Clemence Dane is writing a stinging play about American manners . . . Charlie Chaplin finds sleep impossible before 3 a. m.

Thought after an evening out: What this country needs is more places where people, off duty, may revel in music and light refreshments at less cost. There cannot be 100 percent enjoyment where the customer is constantly thinking of the check.

House Reapportionment Report Will Be Made Soon

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 18. — The Zappala House reapportionment committee, it was learned today, will introduce its report to the 132nd legislature next week urging a wholesale revision of "lopsided" districts.

Meanwhile, David L. Lawrence, Democratic state chairman and secretary of the commonwealth, announced the appointment of a five-member committee to study the reapportionment problem for the Senate, which has not seen a revision of districts since 1921—it should have been done in 1931.

"The administration has made it clear to the legislators that they will have to follow the dictates of the constitution, which says that a reapportionment would be made after every decennial census," Rep. Frank J. Zappala, (D) Allegheny, told International News Service. "Although many legislators are fearful of losing their constituencies by a redistribution, a redistribution they shall have."

Zappala, who is chairman of the committee created at the first 1936 General Assembly, said his body's report to the House next week will contain a concrete plan for reapportionment which would greatly affect the Philadelphia and Allegheny county areas, and would add to the present membership of 208 by one, or at most, two.

The newly appointed Senate committee consists of Senators William B. Rodgers, Allegheny, chairman; Walter S. Pytko, Philadelphia; I. Dana Kahle, Clarion; John S. Rice, Adams, and Leo C. Mundy, Luzerne. All are Democrats.

Not many men know enough people to write an interesting autobiography.

Death Shackled Her

Mrs. Leonora Viel (above) shot and seriously wounded by William Armstrong in her Baltimore home, lay on the floor, semi-conscious, pinned for 12 hours under the body of Armstrong, who after treating her for her wound, killed himself with the same gun. She had refused to "keep company" with the 50-year-old Armstrong. Mrs. Viel will recover.

Ross Leffler To Speak Here At Dad-Son Banquet

Ross L. Leffler, manager of industrial relations for the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, a member of the Pennsylvania state game commission and a member of the regional executive committee of the Boy Scouts of America, will deliver the principal address before New Castle's community's fathers' and sons' banquet audience in the Cathedral on Friday evening, February 26.

Mr. Leffler today had accepted an invitation to come here that night to speak in the place of Judge Benjamin Lencher, Pittsburgh, who was forced to cancel his engagement yesterday upon orders of his physician.

Outstanding for his services to boyhood, Mr. Leffler is an able speaker and will discuss a topic of great interest to fathers and sons. The subject has not been announced.

For several years Mr. Leffler was chairman of the game commission of which he still is a member.

The Cathedral banquet, one like a similar community affair sponsored a few years ago, is being sponsored by The Townsmen, young men's civic group, assisted by several prominent citizens.

Berne, Switzerland, authorities are considering a fourth language for official use in addition to French, German and Italian. This is Romansch, an ancient tongue, based on Latin, and spoken throughout Eastern Switzerland and North Italy. Like old tongues in other lands it was dropped as an official language long ago because it was more difficult to learn than its rivals. Several other languages are spoken in Switzerland, but only in a few districts.

LOYALISTS CHECK REBELS IN FURIOUS BATTLE

Valencia Road Drive Checked

Rebel Campaign To Garrotte Capital Is Reported As Crushed

AIR NIGHT RAIDS TAKE HEAVY TOLL

BY THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, Feb. 18—A re-vitalized leftist army, strongly attacking at two points southeast of Madrid, today crushed tonight's rebel campaign to Garrotte the capital.

Insurgents retaliated with two night air raids, killing at least 11, wounding 60, and starting a score of fires.

Another Loyalist attack in West Park, in northwestern Madrid, was turned back, according to rebel reports.

Halt Insurgent Drive

One of the most furious and costly battles of the Civil War checked the insurgent drive to cut off the Valencia highway. Over the cold plateau and through the gullies of the Jarama river wave after wave of Leftists rolled from Arganda and Perales

The shock of the Loyalist onslaught brought an emergency call for rebel reinforcements. They counter-attacked, but the Loyalists held, following up with another assault.

"Loyalist troops attacked successfully in the Jarama river sector," said a Madrid communique today. "Our lines were considerably advanced.

"The enemy counter-attacked, but was repulsed with heavy losses after calling up reserves.

"Government troops are now consolidating their positions." A rebel salient remains, however, perilously close to the Valencia road at Vaciamadrid and a communique issued at Salamanca asserted that the rebels are continuing to advance.

"The nationalists repulsed an attack in the West Park," it said, "and dispersed a government offensive near Maranosa, capturing two tanks.

"The advance east of the Jarama river is continuing."

Prison for Love?

Irene Jackson

"I'll commit murder, if I have to, to go to prison with my husband," Irene Jackson, Kentucky mountain girl, told a judge at Ogden, Utah, when her husband was sentenced to a one to twenty-year term for second degree burglary of a Manti, Utah, home. She preferred prison even to being free with her 21-month-old baby, who is being cared for in Manti. Irene, now in Utah state prison with her husband, is 20. She married at 16.

Legislature Is Still Held Up

Lack Of Information On Federal Aid, Holds Up Legislation

EIGHTH WEEK TO START ON MONDAY

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 18.—Still handicapped by lack of definite information on federal aid, Pennsylvania's legislature was in recess today, hoping that next week—the eighth of the session—will bring a program different from that of the immediate past.

As the lawmakers went home for a few days, however, the shadow of uncertainty continued to hang over the proposed $65,000,000 state construction program and the 1937-39 budget. Gov. George H. Earle, cabinet members and state PWA officials awaited Washington's final word, confronted by the possibility that all plans involving federal loans and grants may have to be revised extensively again.

"We are expecting word from President Roosevelt at any moment on how much money we will get", said G. Douglas Andrews, state PWA administrator. "We have two choices: Either we get funds from the revolving fund, or by action of congress. However, our whole program must be radically changed."

Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence, who had received the same information reaching Andrews, indicated that the introduction of the state budget Monday night is not an absolute certainty under present circumstances.

Rubinoff Will Make Defense

Resounding Denial To Charges Of Peggy Garcia Will Be Presented

BLOND DEMANDING $500,000 FROM DAVE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Dave Rubinoff, who tears at the heart strings with his fiddle, will go forte fortissimo in his resounding denial today of marriage proposals to blond Peggy Garcia.

The supporting cast, according to the attorney for the maestro of the screech-box, will testify that Peggy is a woman lacking in respectable reputation.

"I have enough documentary evidence," promised Abraham J. Halperin, the famous violinist's counsel, "to riddle the testimony given by Miss Garcia."

The former Harlem hat-check girl, who is seeking to tap Rubinoff's bank account for a half a million dollars, has sworn to Supreme Court Justice Cotillo's court that the violinist seduced her on the unfulfilled promise of marriage.

"In April of 1933," she claimed, Dave promised to marry me, and even introduced me to everyone we met 'the future Mrs. Rubinoff.'"

Eddie Cantor's former silent stooge furnished his glistening foreign-made limousine to transport her to his apartment, she testified. There, she said, he played wedding marches for her.

The first day of trial was a court scene that involved such luminaries of entertainment as "Fats" Waller (who Peggy said improvised a piano tune: "Here Comes Rubinoff With His Fourth Blond This Week.")

Then there were Eddie Cantor (who she says announced over the radio: "Ladies and gentlemen, don't expect too much from Rubinoff tonight, for he has brought his little blond sweetheart with him to the broadcast.")

Today will not only be the premiere of Rubinoff's attendance in court, but will feature the names of hotel employes who will, according to Attorney Halperin, launch an attack upon blond Peggy's reputation.

Calvary Services Achieving Results

Sermons By Evangelist Warren Allem This Week Are Interesting Crowds

The evangelistic crusade in progress at Calvary Presbyterian church on the East Side, has been achieving some noteworthy results. The meetings have been attended by large crowds and the interest, according to reports, have been increasing nightly.

So far the youthful evangelist, Warren Allem, has confined himself to the Gospel of John, giving his audiences excellent sermons with results as are always desired in evangelistic services.

Each meeting is preceded by a prayer service in a separate room at 7:30 as a revival-intercessor. After a brief song service at 7:45 in which Evangelist Allem plays on piano, guitar and piano accordian, the sermon is delivered. Last night's subject was "The Voice, the Word, the Lamb and the Blood."

A delegation from the Struthers (O.) Baptist Tabernacle is coming to tonight's service. The subject will be "Christ the Creator, or Water to Wine."

Friday night Mr. Allem will speak on "The Brazen Purpose and the New Birth"; Sunday morning on "God Speaks to a Grass Widow" and Sunday night, "The Fatherhood of Satan."

Starts a Row

Louis Beitcher (above), star witness in the New York City restaurant racket trial, testified that Aladar Retek was present when Beitcher paid $2,500 extortion money, and that Retek received part of it. Retek leaped to his feet and shouted, "You're a contemptible liar! I never saw you in my life!"

Huge Snow Plow Ready For Service In County

New Castle will not likely be marooned from the rest of the world because of snow-blocked highways in the future, for today a huge snow-fighter plow for the state highway epartment arrived in the city. This huge plow tapers from a height of 18 feet to that of about 10 feet. It will be attached to the front of a giant truck and used on the highways in this vicinity during snowstorms.

Several weeks ago the truck was driven from Harrisburg by William Olsen, and is now being used to haul gravel for the department.

Dockmen at the P. & L. E. freight depot encountered a big problem today when they were given the task of unloading the plow portion of the outfit from a freight car. The plow was slowly edged out of the car by steel bars, and placed on the ramp. A heavy duty chain attached to the plow was fastened to the truck which pulled the piece of machinery off of the ramp.

It will be taken to the state highway garage in Mahoningtown, and will be ready for instant service should a heavy snow fall and block highways.

As soon as the new garage is opened on the Wilmington road, the truck and plow will be transferred to the new surroundings. The truck is one of the largest manufactured, weighs about 11,000 pounds, is powered by a 150 horse-power engine, and is capable of hauling eight tons. The task of operating the truck is exceeeidngly difficult, and the task will be handled by William Olsen.

According to Joseph Travers, who is in charge of the highway garage, the truck was purchased at a cost of $14,875.

The snow attachment is capable of clearing an entire road surface with one sweep, and thereby makes it unnecessary to return and retrace the highway a second time.

The truck and plow are painted the typical brown color which is common on state department property, and the plow is trimmed in a silver paint. The truck, minus the plow may be used by the department throughout the entire year for hauling gravel, sand, earth and ashes. The truck has a cruising speed of about 35 miles per hour, and when it is plowing it is capable of removing any amount of snow from a road at the speed of from five to eight miles per hour. With this outfit, very little difficulty will be encountered in this vicinity through snowfalls.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 18.—Former Governor Alf M. Landon called upon individuals of all political parties to rise above partisan politics and join in opposition to President Roosevelt's proposal for judicial reorganization.

Defeat of the president's efforts to "pack the supreme court" depends upon opposition being generated as the people discuss the proposal over the country, he said.

Within a day or two the county commissioners will set the tax millage for 1937. The estimated budget has been about completed and from indications, there will be a reduction of one mill in the county tax. The present rate is 10½ mills. The new rate is expected to be not more than 9½ mills. An increase of two mills was made a year ago and as the result of that increase there is a surplus in the county treasury. In order to carry on the work of the county without loans at the first of the year there should be a surplus and the increase of two mills a years ago made it possible. No money will have to be borrowed, it is felt, unless taxes are late coming in.

The four mill personal property tax is expected to produce even more than was at first anticipated. Hidden away in vaults and strong boxes of this county are securities which have never paid the four mill tax the county was supposed to collect. With the state investigating ownership of securities the owners have made returns on them. The dead line for making returns was February 15. In spite of the fact that a penalty of 10 per cent went on Tuesday the 16th, about three millions of dollars worth of securities were returned on that day. Wednesday before noon half a million more was returned. This alone means $14,000 for the county and the same for the state and this was just some tag ends that had not been returned previously. What the grand total is nobody knows yet.

The Lawrence county court has a classic example of a son following his father's profession. Rex Rowland, court stenographer, has taken up court reporting and by the admission of the senior Rowland the young man is a better reporter.

The junior Rowland is now a student in Westminster college but gets called at various times by the United States government for work. He has just finished a two weeks job for the Department of Internal Revenue in Pittsburgh where he took the testimony in the tax hearings before Hon. J. Russell Leach, commissioner for the United States Board of Tax Appeals.

Rex has served in the courts of Detroit, Mich., for the Inter-State Commerce Commission in Washington, reported single handedly the convention of the American Stock Exchanges in Chicago. He is a graduate of a school of court reporting but is studying in Westminster college for a degree. At 21 years of age he has had a remarkable experience already.

About 50 per cent of the applicants for citizenship now being heard in the court house are failing, according to a statement of the examiners. The one question that seems to stump the applicants is "what is the Constitution of the United States". Most of them fail on this one. In the light of recent developments it is a question who knows just what the constitution is.

In order to aid the ones who fail of citizenship, Mrs. W. J. Howley, educational director for the WPA, is arranging to have special classes in citizenship so that they may in shape to pass the next time they take the examination.

A rather curious situation has presented itself in the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar. Recently a young couple applied for a marriage license. They then went to a mid-western state where they were married. When the clergyman's return was made to Mr. Edgar he informed the mid-west clergyman that Pennsylvania licenses were not valid in other states.

In the meantime the couple returned to western Pennsylvania and are located in an adjoining county. Informed of the situation they took up the matter with a clergyman in that county and he has written to Mr. Edgar saying that the marriage was valid and that no other marriage could be performed under the laws of their church.

The affair is rather tangled, but it appears that the couple is properly married but did not comply with Pennsylvania law. In this respect they could be prosecuted for violation, but so far as the marriage itself is concerned it is legal, according to opinions of local attorneys.

George S. Long, agent for the Long & Morehead company, has entered suit in the office of Clerk of Courts J. A. Edgar against S. Rubenstein, trading as the Majestic Wall Paper company. The suit is an amicable action in confession of judgment in ejectment.

Dorothy Helen Black files a libel in divorce from her husband, Merrell O. Black, charging cruel and barbarous treatment. The couple was married December 18, 1933, in Mercer but have lived in New Castle for some time.

Joseph W. Humphreys files an amicable scire facias against John DePaul in the amount of $671.75 with interest from January 24, 1937.

Army Quota Nearly Reached In District

Remaining Vacancies Open Only To High School Graduates

The quota of recruits to the United States Army from the local district has now nearly been filled, according to Corporal George Trebesh, local recruiting officer.

At the present time the only openings for local men remain in the infantry and field artillery in Panama. A few vacancies still exist in the air corps at Langley Field and Bolling Field, and in the Engineer's Corps at Fort Belvoir, Va. This last group, however, is open to high school graduates only, or to persons who are mechanically inclined.

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

OLD HATBORO LIBRARY

Do you know that Hatboro, in Montgomery County, has a library which was started in 1755?

This library is the third oldest in this state and the seventh oldest in the United States. It is one of the most beautiful buildings in the town, and on the shelves of the library are fully 30,000 volumes, many of them inestimable value.

Among the many interesting historical things in Hatboro is a monument to the Rev. William Tennent, who in 1727 established there the Log Cabin College. From this sprang Princeton College and its Theological Seminary and 63 other Presbyterian colleges throughout the United States.

No woman ever made a great success of raising babies as a sideline.

Attendance Of Women Is Being Urged For Sunday

Sunday Will Be Missionary Society Days In City Sabbath Schools

Sunday, February 21, will be "missionary society" day in the "Gold Rush" campaign in which 10 of the New Castle Sunday schools are participating and this Sunday the adult ladies of the various Sunday schools will increase the attendance not only by being present themselves, but by seeing that the children, and especially the men, are present as well.

The increase campaign is meeting all expectations as 320 gold nuggets have been accumulated in the first two Sundays and the interest and enthusiasm is growing. By the close of the campaign, Easter Sunday, March 28, all of the participants will have a valuable cache of the precious metal.

The Third United Presbyterian Sunday school, second in the number of gold nuggets accumulated, a total of 81 for the two Sundays, have a plan that is bringing them good results. They set a certain number of nuggets as a goal for each department and not only have the departments competed for recognition, but have the classes in each department competing as well.

The report is that the amount of sickness in New Castle is on the decrease; this will help the attendance materially as some of the Sunday schools have had quite a number of absentees due to that cause.

William Bowers To Sing Friday

Famous Colored Baritone To Sing For Benefit Of High School Band And Orchestra

There doesn't seem to be much connection between a concert singer in evening clothes and a group of 100 boys and girls plodding across a football fields, playing band instruments. But there is a connection.

It is this. Whatever net proceeds are made from the concert of William Bowers Friday night in the Senior high school auditorium will go towards providing new uniforms for the high school band . . . certainly they need them.

The uniforms were purchased ten years ago. Every season they have borne the brunt of the elements, rain and sun, sleet and snow and natural deterioration. They should have been replaced several years ago, but you know how money was then.

William Bowers is the Negro baritone who gave such a performance in "Porgy and Bess" during its Broadway run. He will sing a program of classics and modern melodies. The Negro race has not produced a better baritone in several generations. The concert opens at 8:30 Friday night.

Hints On Etiquette

At very large bridge parties, the hostess should provide for both contract and auction tables. In this case two circuits of tables should be established.

The Iguazu falls, in South America, are higher and wider than Niagara.

For a nourishing and warming drink before bedtime, add a stick of ground cinnamon and sugar to taste to a glass of milk and bring to boiling point. Remove cinnamon and serve warm.

Waynesburg To Battle Titans

Game To Be Played At Westminster Gym On Saturday Night

HARD CONTEST IS BELIEVED CERTAIN

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 18.—After their return from a grueling road trip in which they met in turn George Washington, Villanova and Westchester, the Westminster College Titans return to New Wilmington for a two days' rest before taking on one of the district's strongest quintets, Waynesburg College, Saturday night on the New Wilmington floor at 8:15 o'clock.

The Waynesburg Wolfpack will be dangerous opposition to the Titans, with two excellent forwards in Clark and R. Bouldin, and a splendid pivot man in E. Bouldin at center. The Wolfmen started the season impressively, with a sound win over Carnegie Tech, but since then have split even in games won and lost.

The Saturday night game will be prefaced with a curtain-raiser between the Frosh quintets of Westminster and Waynesburg, scheduled to start at 7:30. Only three more games will be played on the home floor during the present seaeson: Waynesburg, Saturday night; George Washington University, February 26; and Carnegie Tech, March 2. All will be tough opposition for the conference-championship-aspiring Titans.

In conference circles the Roarkmen have two wins over Slippery Rock, one over Geneva, two over Youngstown, and an even break with Bethany. Two games with Waynesburg and one with Geneva remain on the schedule. In district circles the Titans have a win over Tech, 29-22, and a loss to Pitt, 32 to 31.

Coach George Roark will depend on Grubb and Demo to carry the burden of the scoring as both boys have shown up excellently on the eastern trip.

Louis Kayoes Natie Brown In 4th Round

Referee Stops Bout When Brown Looks Helpless, Brown Is Booed

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 18.—Natie Brown who staggered through ten rounds with Joe Louis two years ago lasted only 42 seconds more than three rounds with the Brown Bomber in their scheduled 10-round bout here last night before 14,000 fans.

After acquitting himself creditably in the opening round and holding his own thereafter, Brown fell a victim to the slugging Bomber shortly after the fourth round opened.

Rights And Lefts

It was a succession of rights and lefts to the jaw that put Brown down for the count. He was counted out as he knelt with his hands on the floor near the ropes of Louis' corner.

The largest crowd to witness an indoor athletic event in Kansas City cheered the knockout. Louis' weight was given as 206 and Brown's as 199½.

Brown started out to make a fight of it in the opening round, leading with his left to Louis' head. His first good blow was a left high on Louis' forehead.

Watches For Opening

Louis' first blow was a left to the body. After that he began pressing forward on Brown, following him around the ring for an opening.

Brown unleashed a brief flurry in the second round, landing rights and lefts to Louis' head and body, but Louis followed with a hard right to the body. Louis missed an uppercut as he had Brown in one corner, then followed with a right to Brown's jaw. Brown let loose a haymaker with his right and nearly fell to the floor when he missed. Louis started after Brown immediately as the third round opened but missed a right. After he followed Brown to a corner, Brown again tried to connect with a wild right but missed and nearly lost his balance.

Louis missed an uppercut shortly afterwards. Brown then hung on. Louis got Brown into a corner and landed a hard right and the crowd started an uproar as Brown came out and went after the Bomber. He came in with his hands over his face but Louis straightened him up with two uppercuts, then Brown wrestled him to the ropes.

Two Hard Rights

Brown landed two hard rights to the jaw as Louis was backed against the ropes, but Brown was in a corner again as the bell rang.

Louis opened the fourth round by missing a right to the jaw, but landed immediately afterwards with a left that staggered the Jewish heavyweight. Joe then rushed his opponent to a corner and Brown tried to escape the Bomber's punishing blows to the face by sticking his head out between the ropes. Louis landed two hard rights and a left to the jaw and Brown went down to be counted out by Referee Walter Bates.

Falls On Referee

Immediately after the count Brown pulled himself to his feet and staggered and fell on top of the referee. The latter escaped from the stricken fighter's clutching hands, however, and rushed across the ring to raise Louis' right hand. Brown then pulled himself to a sitting position as his seconds came into the ring to help him to his corner.

Louis was cheered wildly as he left the ring but Brown was booed.

Gross gate, $27,135.90; net gross, $22,202. Louis' end was $8,826.84, and Brown's end, $3,310.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILI BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Freddie Steele, world's middleweight champion, who defends his title here February 19 against Babe Risko, from whom he won it, seems to be a well named fighter. He has steel not only in his fists, but has been endowed by nature with a generous supply of it in his chin. Fate has smacked him several times right on the button without avail.

Or, perhaps it's cement. Freddie's old home town is Concrete, Wash., named for the potential sidewalks found there right in the ground. Steele was 14 years old when he left Concrete, with its 735 people, and invaded Tacoma. Already the youngster had ideas of making a living by mahem, the notion having been given him by Ted Morgan, a lightweight who stopped off in Concrete to give the Concretans an example.

In Tacoma Steele asked Dave Miller, who now is his manager (along with Bing Crosby) to get him some fights. He weigned only a little more than 100 pounds, so Miller told him to wait a year or two. After watching him plaster a couple of battlers in gym workouts, Miller wasn't so sure Freddie couldn't take care of himself in spite of his tender years. After some elementary schooling in jabs and hooks, Steele started fighting as a flyweight. He grew rapidly. At 16 he was a welter, still in high school, but fighting in main bouts. When 18 years old he surprised even his friends (and Mr. Garcia) by knocking out Ceferino Garcia in two rounds.

Repeats It Exactly

California read of the knockout of Garcia, couldn't believe it and invited Steele to try it again on Garcia's home grounds. Freddie did the job all over again, exactly as he had performed it the first time, in two rounds.

Then bad news began happening all over the Pacific coast, with Freddie Steele the subject. Stricken with terrific pains in the back, the young man became a clinical case for months. A half dozen physicians decided he was suffering from an incurable kidney ailment. Finally a doctor was found who had something for it. Freddie rested, showed improvement under the treatment and went back to the glove wars.

His first start after emerging from the hospital was another setback. Freddie suffered a broken jaw in the first round, went on to win, and returned to the clinic for another four months.

Auto vs. Building

The jaw was just getting back to normal, when an automobile Steele was driving skidded and came off second best in a bout with a building. Freddie was unconscious for a day after that punch, suffering concussion of the brain. A couple of months later he had to be pulled out of the grasp of Neptune at Long Beach, Wash., after he had attempted a rescue.

How's that for a run of luck—all bad?

But the clouter from Concrete still is in there swinging. He got his first good break from the fates when he fought Babe Risko and beat him for the championship in a brawl that set a precedent for rowdyism. In a return match Steele outpunched the rough and tough young man from Syracuse, so this is their third fete. Both previous fights were close.

Marcel Thil Is Going To Retire

Films And Expert Evidence Show That Lou Brouillard Actually Won Bout In Paris

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 18.—Stunned by film and experts' evidence that he retained his world's middleweight championship claim through a foul called by mistake, Marcel Thil of France announced today that he is quitting the ring forever.

Moving pictures, according to sports writers, showed that the blow by which Lou Brouillard of Worcester, Mass., was disqualified Monday night was not low.

"I abandon the ring!" said Thil, sorrowfully as he read the morning papers. "My decision is irrevocable. My only hope is that my country can develop another champion who can build up the same career as I."

Thil was counted out by the referee in the sixth round of their scheduled 15-round "championship" bout before 15,000. The judges, however, ruled that the blow was low.

Typical reaction of the French press was expressed in today's Paris-Midi, which said:

"If the film is accurate, Marcel Thil was cleanly knocked out, and Brouillard was cheated of his victory and the world championship was rightfully won."

Fresh from their unexpected triumph over the strong New Wilmington high passers, Shenango township high school cagers hope to add the Princeton quintet to their victory list Friday night at Princeton floor.

The "bugaboo", or tough luck, which has trailed the East New Castle passers all season seems to have faded. The Shenango Wildcats dropped several games by the skin of their teeth. A break here and there would have resulted in victory. Last Tuesday Shenango disposed of New Wilmington, a strong contender for section 21 honors.

Gehrig Wants $50,000 Or He Won't Sign Up

Colonel Jacob Ruppert Says "Nothing Doing Lou," May Reach Compromise

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—All I know, after listening very intently to some of the more enlightened minds of the profession, is that Henry Lou Gehrig, who is after the biggest salary in baseball, must be something of a sucker and that the Herr Jacob Ruppert might be—even with all evidence to the contrtary—something of a sap. A sap owner, of course, is no great novelty, but I'm always a trifle upset when confronted by a ball player who, upon taking a perfect relay on an idea stands there regarding the ball with the air of an alert dolt.

Anyhow, this is a more or less faithful record of Gehrig's reactions today:

A Little Tooth Much

Q. Are you holding out for $50,000. A. Well, that's what Mr. Ruppert announced, wasn't it? Q. Since your last conference with the club, have you heard further about your contract? A. I couldn't say; you know how it is, I really couldn't say.

Q. You realize, of course, that you're asking a bigger raise at $19,000 a year than Jimmy Foxx gets for an entire season? A. Foxx's salary at $19,000? Really now, you shouldn't ask me questions about that, especially since Foxx gets a bigger salary than $19,000, much bigger. Closer to $25,000, but of course I can't be expected to really know how much Foxx gets. You know how it is?

The writer can only say that he's afraid that he does. This Gehrig has decided to hold out for $50,000 against an owner who, regardless of the man's actual worth, cannot possibly start the season without him. So this Gehrig has decided what the best way to settle that is to keep everything absolutely confidential.

On the other hand, I, the writer, who cut of the wealth of his experience and knowledge can guarantee anybody an average of $22.50 a week advised the man to book passage immediately for the South Sea Islands. I believe I said something about the Yankee management being forced to charter a ship in order to get the gentleman back.

But I don't believe the gentleman heard me.

Tournament Plans Making Progress

Western Pennsylvania Badminton Open Here March 19-20

With the success of the 1936 Western Pennsylvania Badminton Open Tournament still a pleasant memory the members of the New Castle Badminton Association are preparing for the second annual tournament to be held on March 19 and 20. The tournament will be held in the George Washington Junior High school.

Last year the idea of a badminton tournament was an experiment but it proved to be an unqualified success. Players were here from Toronto, Can., Buffalo, N. Y., Detroit, Mich., Dayton, O., Pittsburgh, Cleveland, and Erie. When they arrived the high quality of the prizes, so impressed them that they prophesied that 1937's tournament would draw many more entries.

The prophesy is proving more than true. John W. McIlwraith the tournament manager is receiving entries and requests for information in such numbers that this year's tournament will undoubtedly top that of 1936 by a lot.

Ellwood City Library Has Notable Record For Public Service

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 16.—January 14, 1914, twenty-three years ago, a group of public spirited and civic minded citizens with a unified object of establishing a public library for Ellwood City residents were successful in their enterprise.

Prof. Charles F. Becker, a former superintendent of the Ellwood schools, was one of the untiring leaders of the movement. J. J. Dunn of Fountain avenue, a National Tube company official, was the first president of the board of directors.

A sum of $500 for the purchase of books was contributed by the school board and from time to time thruout the first years contributions were given by benevolent citizens. The second year the school board gave $1,000 to the organization and five years later the maintenance of the library was assumed by the school board and boro council. Today it is financed by taxes, boro council and appropriations from the school board.

First Location.

The first library was situated in one room of the present American Legion building. As the circulation increased more space was needed and at various times the library has been located in the old Lawrence school, the building that is now the J. I. Porter funeral home, the Hartman house and its present home in the spacious quarters of the Masonic building on Crescent avenue.

It has grown from that small beginning to be one of the most complete and established libraries in this district today and Ellwood City may be justly proud of this splendid institution and its inestimable value to the community.

The first catalogue of the library was composed of 600 books, while the present number of books total 17,841; 3443 adults, 3357 children, a total of 6800 persons or 56 per cent of the population of the town take advantage of the opportunities afforded by the library.

As in all other libraries, fiction is the most popular type of book. Biography, travel, scientific and technical (this being a mill town) in the order given are the most widely circulated books at the local library.

While fiction readers are fickle and today's favorite author may be forgotten tomorrow, for the past four or five years books by Lloyd Douglas have been the most in demand. A great deal of the popularity of a book depends on the publicity given it by the publisher.

In Great Demand.

"A Lantern In Her Hand" by Bess Streeter Aldrich, 1928; "Magnificent Obsession" by Lloyd Douglas, 1931; and "Anthony Adverse" by Harvey Allen, 1933, have had the largest circulation in the past number of years and continue to hold first place with the readers. Louisa May Alcott's stories of "Little Women", "Little Men" and "Jo's Boys", are the general favorites of youthful readers with Mark Twain's stories being a close second choice.

"Gone With the Wind," the Margaret Mitchel colossus, is in great demand at the present time with 57 "reserves". For several months there has been an average of 50 "reserves" on this novel. Four copies are in the rental collection and the readers usually keep the book from seven to 14 days.

The library has a Bible for circulation and it is very often requested. Incidentally at one time a Bible was stolen but later recovered by the librarian. Dictionaries are constantly desired and they are "worn to a frazzle" by contest fans.

Four books may be secured at one time on a card and may be kept for 14 days without charge. Men secure the most books and usually know what type of book they desire, while most women like to have the librarian select books for them.

New Fiction Ordered.

All books to be purchased are selected by the librarian. New fiction for the rental collection is ordered once a month and other kinds of new books arrive almost daily. Suggestions from the public on books desired are welcomed by the librarian.

About one thousand books per year are withdrawn from circulation, including lost and worn-out editions. This is about the average for libraries that circulate as many books as this library does. In 1936, 229 were missing in inventory, 48 lost in circulation and 889 worn-out.

As a whole the majority of people are reasonably careful of the books. A few vandals write in books and otherwise deface them. This is punishable in Pennsylvania by fine or imprisonment.

Four full-time workers and two part-time workers are employed by the board. Phyllis C. Court is assistant librarian and Miss Janice Bartel is children's librarian.

The name of Mrs. Catherine M. Charles and Ellwood City library are synonymous, she having been the librarian since the organization of the establishment. No words can express the worth of her services. Across the years through her willingness to serve and cheerfulness, she has been a worthy friend and helper to adults and children alike.

Dies, but Lives

Theodore Prinz

Theodore Prinz knows what death is. He "died"—but was revived by hypodermic injections of adrenalin. Prinz is a meat company operator in Aberdeen, Wash. Injured in an automobile accident, he was rushed to a hospital and seemed to die on the operating table. Physicians said he was "dead" more than five minutes before they revived him. Besides the adrenalin injections, pressure was applied to his lungs to start artificial respiration. Of death, Prinz says: "The shadow of the valley of death is a soft, dark place and a man floats in a calm and sweet contentment without fear or dread or regrets."

Coroner's Jury Probes Death Of Blairsville Man

Do Not Place Responsibility For Accident Due To Lack Of Evidence

NO EYE WITNESSES TO FATAL ACCIDENT

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 18—County Coroner Orville Potter probed into the death of Paul C. Jellison, 23, of Blairsville, Pa., at an inquest conducted at the office of Justice of the Peace J. E. VanGorder, on Lawrence avenue Wednesday night.

In its verdict the coroner's jury stated that Paul C. Jellison, of Blairsville, Pa., died at the Ellwood City hospital February 3, at 6:54 p. m. as a result of injuries received when struck by a gasoline truck driven by Zearl Fowler, of New Castle. "Due to lack of evidence, we the jury, cannot determine the responsibility for the accident." The jury was composed of Paul Cartwright, James E. Smith, George Conway, T. H. Jones, Frank A. Lemery and Fred Robuck.

Dr. J. F. Jenovese of this city, who attended the deceased at the local hospital, was the first witness called and testified as to his injuries. Death was due to an internal hemorrhage caused by a crushed chest. He had also received a serious injury to the head, fracture of the jaw, and numerous lacerations and and bruises. There was a swelling at the right groin and hip.

Highway Patrolman William R. Sunday of the New Castle station, who investigated the accident, stated that there were no actual eye witnesses to the fatality. He had been on duty on that day at the scene with a traffic survey crew, but had left for supper just previous to the accident. He was called back later. The result of his investigation showed that the accident happened on Route 422 half way between Dixie Inn and Portersville or three quarters of a mile west of the Davis Garage. The body had been removed before his arrival. From the evidence at the scene the deceased had been standing just on the edge of the highway on the same side of the approaching truck. He was motionless, apparently looking at an object across the road in a field. He did not turn as the truck approached and either staggered or stepped to the road. The driver of the truck swerved sharply to the left missing the man with the front part of the car, but was struck down by the back part causing a rear wheel to run over his hip and chest.

The truck came to a stop within 25 feet of the impact. The traffic survey crew was just out of sight of the accident due to a small grade, but appeared shortly after to render assistance. From all he was able to learn Patrolman Sunday stated that he believed the accident was unavoidable. The time of the accident was placed about 3:30. The grade would not permit the truck to have any kind of speed, he stated. It had gone across the highway and was parked diagonally. In answer to a question submitted by the jury, he stated that there was no evidence that the body was dragged.

Mr. Jellison, father of the deceased, stated that his son had left home at 8 o'clock that morning enroute to visit his uncle at Canton, O. He had been out of employment for a period and had hoped to obtain it at Canton. He left in a cheerful mood. In answer to a question he stated that the hearing and sight of his son was normal, having passed military examinations. He could see no reason for his son to commit suicide as when there was no employment elsewhere he had it at the family farm.

Zearl Fowler of 616 North Cedar street, New Castle, and driver of the truck, was the last witness called. He is employed as a truck driver for the Mahoning Valley Oil company and was bringing a load of kerosene from Karns City to New Castle at the time. After being checked by the highway survey crew he proceeded on his way, to shortly see a man standing motionless on the same side of the road and looking across the highway into a field. His first impression was that the man was a hitch-hiker. When the truck was about eight feet away the man suddenly seemed to fall or dive directly into its path. Fowler swerved his car sharply to the left but felt his rear right wheel go over a bump and knew that he had hit the man. With the aid of the highway survey crew the body was carried off the road and then later placed into a car of a passing motorist. It was taken to an office of a Portersville physician who called an ambulance from Ellwood City. Fowler accompanied the injured man to the local hospital. Young Jellison was in a semi-conscious condition. In answer to questions, Fowler stated that his truck was new and equipped with dual pneumatic tires. There were no marks on the truck after the accident to show which part had struck him down. When first seeing the deceased he was given the impression that he was tired and about ready to collapse. The body was face up after the impact. The driving conditions were good, it being a clear day and road. He stated that he was traveling between 20 and 25 miles per hour at the time.

During normal respiration, an adult human inhales approximately 30 cubic inches of air at one time.

Tomei Is Prominent Factor In 49-23 Victory At Shelby Wednesday

FRISCO TROUNCED BY FINISHING FIVE

ELWOOD CITY, Feb. 18—Two decisive victories were won in the City Industrial League last night at the Shelby Auditorium when the Office trimmed the Mathews cagers 49-23 and Finishing walloped Frisco 41-20.

Office got off to an early lead in the first game of the evening and were never headed or seriously threatened after that. The score was 12-2 in the first quarter, 20-5 at the half, 34-13 in the third quarter and 49-23 final. Red Tomei had a field day with the victors as he caged seven field goals and one foul for a total of 15 points. McFadden, Patterson, Shirey and Kimes also played a fine game. Colo was outstanding for the losers.

Finishing seemed to follow the example set by the Office and proceeded to give Frisco a drubbing. They took a 10-4 lead in the initial period 19-9 at the half, 30-12 in the third period and 41-20 final. Ursu and Freidhoff were the big guns in Finishing's victory with Boone being best for the losers.

The games scheduled for Saturday will be played on Friday night, it was announced this morning. This is because of the Foreman's Club Family Night program at the auditorium on Saturday. The Cold Draw will meet Finishing in the first game and the Mechanics and Office will clash in the second.

Award Prizes

The feature of the evening's program after the games was the presentation of the prizes to the winners of the amateur contest held at the auditorium last Tuesday night. The first prize went to Michael Navollo for a song and tap dance number, the second to Billy Ferucci as a jug blower and the third to the Justine Sisters trio whose ages are 9, 11 and 13. Each of these rendered two numbers as they received the awards. An added feature was music on the accordion and guitar by George and Amos Mazzant. Also Joe Port gave two tap dance numbers.

Stock Market Is Irregular

Gains Of More Than Point Sharply Cut, Profit-Taking Appears

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Gains of more than a point in the leaders were cut sharply today as the stock market turned dull and irregular. Rails, an exception, held on toe gains of about a point as Baltimore & Ohio set a new mark for the year and Illinois Central equalled its best price of the last year.

Allegheny Corp. preferred jumped 3 points at one time and the common was fractionally higher.

Profit taking wiped out a point gain in Chrysler and a fractional improvement in General Motors. Reo held to a small part of its gain after opening at a new peak.

Steels were above previous closing levels but lost part of their advance. Bethlehem, U. S. Steel and Youngstown Sheet were up about 4 points each. International Nickel moved a point higher into new high ground while Anaconda and Kennecott were up fractionally. American Telephone dipped almost 2 and Air Reduction and DuPont were off a point each.

Bonds were quiet. Grains eased. Cotton gained slightly.

Cures Bad Posture

Caroline Brown

"What is your physical vocabulary?" asks Caroline Brown of New York, who left the fashion field to do research into the field of poor posture. If you don't know its limit, others see the set pattern of the comparatively small number of movements which you make daily. Your free flexibility and grace of movement may be made to sing with rhythm like audible music, once you learn the secret of not living, like a flat tire, on the outer rim of your muscle structure, she declares. Miss Brown lectures to clubs and schools, gives talks over the radio, writes and teaches her theory of exercising what she terms the disused and wasted inner set of muscles of the body.

It was stressed here, however, that the United States plans no departure at present from its normal naval replacement program.

Plans for construction of new capital ships at the rate of two a year, while a secret until today, has been on the navy's program for some time, it was stated.

"I Was Nervous, Weak, Had Headaches, Lost Weight"

READ HOW MRS. CESIDIO POLSINELLI FOUND RELIEF

"About two years ago I started to lose weight, get headaches every day, feel weak and nervous. When I was only 16 years of age I began doing housework for a family of six. I also had 10 rooms to clean each day, cook all meals and take care of 4 children. I worked there for 3 years, ten to twelve and sixteen hours a day sometimes. I guess that was too much for me. When I left there I did housework again. This time there were no children but I had 16 rooms to clean and cooked all meals. This was worse than the other place because I had to work much harder regardless of how I felt. I couldn't sleep at night, but I had to work all the same.

This year, January 26 I got married and of course I was all run down. My sister said I should try your medicine and it has helped me. Now I have no more headaches or colds and my eyes don't blur as they often did."

Mrs. Cesidio Polsinelli,
716 Easter Avenue, Akron, Ohio.

"IT BUILT ME UP"

"I am 44 years old. I saw your ad in Comfort Magazine and I took the Vegetable Compound because I was rundown. It built me up and gave me more pep. My nerves are better, I sleep well and feel much better than I did. I recommend this medicine at every opportunity."

Mrs. J. W. Spillers,

Duke Of Windsor Is Determined To Wed Mrs. Simpson

Believes That Years Of Ultimate Happiness Lie Ahead For Them

Will Not Listen To Pleadings Of Anyone To Abandon Plans For Marriage

By CHARLES A SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937, By International News Service

LONDON, Feb. 9—The Duke of Windsor informed friends in London over the week-end that he will reject any effort, no matter what source, to dissuade him from marrying Mrs. Wallis Simpson, it was learned today.

The former king has set his mind of making Mrs. Simpson his wife, and is counting the days until granting of her divorce decree absolute will enable her to become his bride.

Wants Happiness

Only the thought of their future marriage and what he firmly believes will be their resultant lifelong happiness together, these friends were told, make his present situation bearable and eases the heart-ache of being isolated in a foreign land away from family, friends, and old associations.

Members of the "Diehard" nobility, certain embittered courtiers, and church circles are reported to be the behind-the-scenes directors of the new series of anti-marriage stories which today culminated by bringing in the name of the royal family as being among the objectors.

No Pressure

But International News Service learned from authoritative circles that there is no truth in any suggestion that the royal family is bringing pressure on the Duke of Windsor to abandon the projected marriage.

No member of his family, it was declared, would care to cause the unhappy ex-monarch unhappiness by trying to compel such a step.

Stories that Mary, the Princess Royal, is conveying the family's opposition to the marriage were ridiculed by informed circles. Her present visit to the duke at Castle Enbesfeld, Austria, it was stated, is mainly concerned with informing her brother of the reasons behind the reported decision to grant him an annuity from private sources, instead of naming him openly on the civil list.

Sister On Visit

Also motivating the visit was the desire of the royal family to give Edward the companionship of his only sister for a few weeks to ease the burden of waiting until, late in April, the marriage will be possible. The princess royal likewise sought to make up for postponement of the Duke of Kent's proposed visit

Court circles were emphatic in declaring that the Duke of Windsor has not budged the fraction of an inch from the attitude which he summed up in his memorable abdication broadcast, saying he quit the throne "for the woman I love."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth tells how Senators choose a light smoke... considerate of their throats

"I often lunch in the Senate restaurant at the Capitol. Nearly every Senator and Representative there smokes, and the number I see take out a package of Luckies is quite surprising. Perhaps surprising is not the word. Because off and on, ever since 1917, I myself have used Luckies for this sound reason: They really are a light smoke—kind to the throat. It's simply common sense that these Senators and Representatives, whose voices must meet the continuous strain of public speaking, should also need a cigarette that is considerate of their throats . . . a light smoke."

Alice Roosevelt Longworth

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Mrs. Longworth's statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

For the first time in many weeks the board of county commissioners is meeting with all three members present. For a number of weeks Commissioner Floyd L. Cotton was in the hospital. He returned for a few hours each day and Commissioner George H. Bolinger went down with the flu. Then Commissioner Joseph Hannon went down but they are all on the job again.

One of the first tasks taken up Monday was the building of the budget for the coming year. County Controller Frank W. Hill was closeted with the commissioners most of Monday going over the estimates of income and expenditures. Before the budget can be finally approved the salary board must meet and set the salaries for the year. Some equalization is possible this year. The excuses for absolution from jury duty are many and varied. One juror is engaged in a job that requires all his time and he can't get off. Another is planning a trip before the week is out and he wants to get away. Stil alnother doesn't feel so good and thinks jury duty would be injurious to his health. Oddly enough few women jurors ever ask to be excsed. They seem to want to serve and observation of juries while in the jury box is that the women pay close attention to the evidence. Lawrence County's experience with women as jurors has been good, on the whole. Where severity in criminal cases has been required they have been severe, in som cases voting for the death penalty.

A tipstaff can be a valuable man around a court house or he can be an annoyance with a sense of false importance. Jack Eberle, one of the tipstaffs might easily write a set of rules for tipstaves. Mr. Eberle has been around the court house for several years and seems to believe that tipstaves should be seen and not heard. He is a veteran steel worker and at one time worked with James A. Farrell, later president of the United States Steel Corporation. In the early youth of the writer he was a policeman on the city force and one of our first remembrances of respect for the dignity of the law was Officer Eberle. Today he goes about his duties in the court house quietly and efficiently, and epitomizes the qualities that make for a perfect tipstaff.

Supervisor C. R. Ward of the State Department of Revenue is back on his job in the court house aiding citizens in the filing of personal property tax returns. Today he warned citizens that February 15 is the deadline for the filing of returns and there would be no extension of time. Persons not filed on that date will be subject to penalty.

The present term of court which opened on Monday is another civil court and as usual will be composed mostly of automobile damage cases. Eacn year sees an increasing number of damage suits brought because of automobile accidents, and in the past five years the majority of civil suits have been through that cause

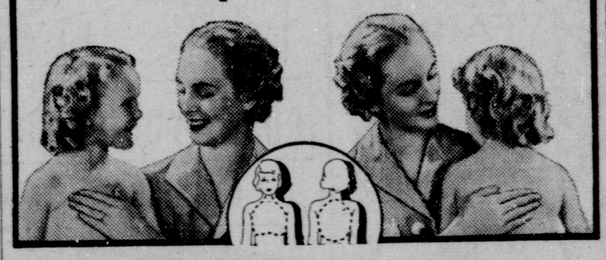
Here's the Modern Way To Help END a Cold



The 3 Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest, and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages of the nose, throat, and chest. This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—eases the cough—helps break congestion.

During the night, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets
This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

"That's my job — to find trouble on your telephone line before you find it. You see, I'm a Test Man in a telephone central office. It's my job to find trouble before it troubles you! Switches and dials tell me what and where trouble may hit. Then I send a repairman to fix it. Very often we can catch it before it affects your service and you never realize that there has been trouble on your line!"

to be rendered subservient to the executive branch of the government, for the evident purpose of promoting certain economic experiments, what guarantee could the people have that it would not be subject to simliar pressure at another time when their personal liberties were at stake?

* * *

Kansas City Journal Post—Since the President refused to meet the court issue and therefore did not let the people vote upon it, packing is undemocratic because it brings about a fundamental change in our governmnet without consulting the people.

* * *

St. Louis Star-Times—A reorganization of the courts, theoretically sound, appears all the more desirable if it will strengthen the federal and state governments in dealing with economic problems—provided you believe those problems ought to be dealt with by the government.

But the same reorganization, however sound in theory, becomes objectionable if you want New Deal laws held unconstitutional.

The cold truth is that the people have declared 27,000,000 to 17,000,000, in favor of the New Deal and the Supreme Court indicated last week, but its five-to-four vote in the Washington State Utility tax case, that it remains as ever ready to strike down the powers of government when they interfere with the privileges of great corporations.

Albany, Knickerbocker Press—On January 30, 1935, he (Roosevelt) announced he did not intend to recommend an increase in the number of associate judges if forthcoming decisions on New Deal policies were not favorable. Now, he has acted, consistent only with his inconsistency.

* * *

Christian Science Monitor—This newspaper has declared that any constitutional changes Americans find necessary should be made by amending the Constitution, not by amending the Supreme Court. That is still our conviction. We further believe that "packing" the court is one of the worst ways of amending it and that among packing methods grading by age is certainly not the best.
